SENIOR ACTIVITY INDEX

Foreword

THAT door above opens out into the future for the class of 1948. Twelve years have been spent in preparing the members of the class for their places in the world-wide community. They are going out into a world which has been ravaged by two great wars in the last thirty-five years. There is room everywhere for improvement, for friendship, and for understanding. Thank you, Rocky High, for giving them a firm foundation on which to build their lives and work for a better future.

EARL H. HANSON

The Rock Island Board of Education is a centralized control for all the city's schools. Its members see that every student in Rock Island receives the best possible educational opportunities.

That our school buildings and curricula have been recognized as among the best in the state is largely the result of the board's efforts. It is constantly working to improve and modernize our schools.

The Board of Education hires teachers, buys textbooks, and handles the other financial problems of the Rock Island school system.

To the Class of 1948:

Thank you for helping the Rock Island senior high school to continue and enrich the traditions which have made your alma mater a bright light in this community.

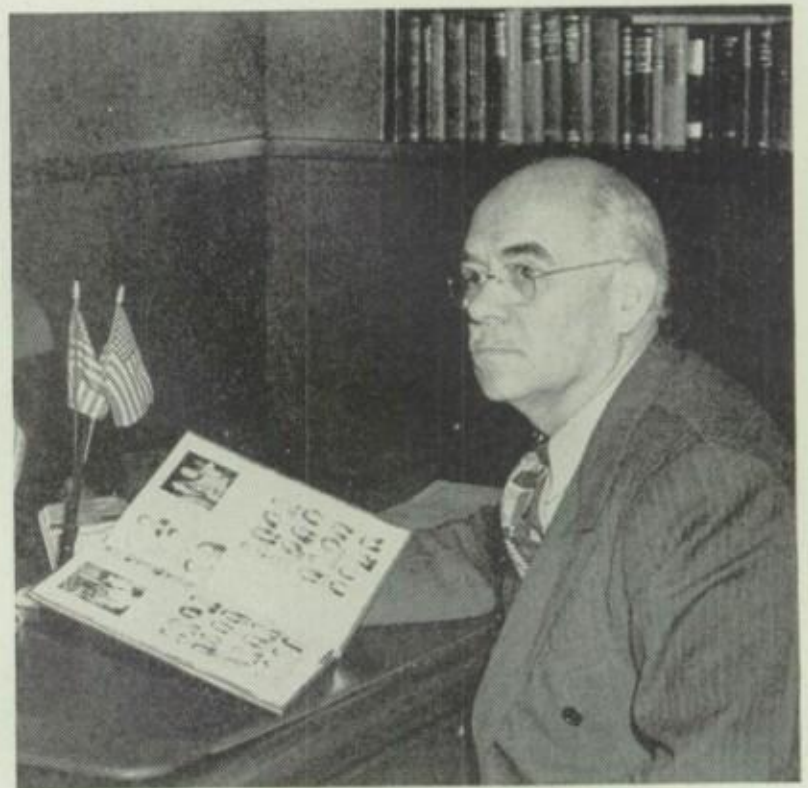

Your successes and even failures here should help you grow into more advanced work with and for others.

Many people are confused in these days of uncertainty. May you carry the torch of enlightened and inspired citizenship which is made possible by strong character, unstinted service, and knowledge of the tasks at hand.

May God bless you every one.

Is it the right thing?

Is it the wise thing?

Is it a kind thing?

If, as you go through life, you can make your actions square with these three criteria or even with two of them you are likely to live a life which is happy and of service to mankind.

E. S. Metcalf

Dean of Boys

E. S. METCALF

You have now finished twelve years of school work. During these years, your parents and your teachers have acquainted you with some of the important teachings and practices by which men have worked out their ways of life on this earth.

Armed with this knowledge, may you face the future with courage, avoiding the mistakes of the past, shaping and designing a life blessed with clear thinking, health, happiness, and satisfying achievement.

Valedictorian and Salutatorian

EVELYN STAHL AND LEON SABATH

Being valedictorian or salutatorian of his graduating class is one of the highest honors a senior can hope to attain.

This year's valedictorian was Leon Sabath. Leon's average was 96.73. He majored in science, mathematics, history, and English. His extracurricular activities included tennis, boys' declamation, band, dramatics, and various clubs.

Close behind Leon was the salutatorian, Evelyn Stahl, with a 96.47 average. Evelyn's majors were science, mathematics, history, Latin, and English. She was active in debate, extemp, dramatics, tennis, and music. She also belonged to many clubs.

Upper Ten

Joann Swanson, Hartley Clark, Dolores Mejerle, Robert Meeker, Evelyn Stahl, Leon Sabath, Virginia Polzin, Richard Rodgers, Sally Pleasants, Alfred Balk.

The following ten students had the highest scholastic averages in the class of 1948:

Leon Sabath	96.73
Evelyn Stahl	96.47
Robert Meeker	96.45
Richard Rodgers	96.42
Dolores Mejerle	96.30
Alfred Balk	96.20
Virginia Polzin	95.90
Joann Swanson	95.80
Sally Pleasants	95.66
Hartley Clark	95.60

Row 1: Richard Rodgers, Frederick Goad, Eugene Leman, Robert Kowert, William Miller, Leo Lundberg, Marilyn Van Trump, Doris Ryan, Joann Swanson, Dorothy Risley, Sally Pleasants, Nola Bradley.

Character, service to school, loyalty, and scholarship are the requirements for admission into the National Honor Society.

This year 58 seniors became members of the Rock Island high school chapter of the National Honor Society by meeting these requirements. Forty-five of this number had an average of 92 or above. Thirteen members, having an average between 85 and 92, were elected to the society.

All seniors having a scholastic average of 92 or above were automatically admitted. The names of the seniors having an average between 85 and 92 were submitted to all the seniors in this division to be voted upon. There were 124 students in this group. The names of the 62 students (one-half the total number eligible for admission) receiving the most votes were submitted to the faculty, and 13 of this number became members of the Honor Society.

The officers of the National Honor Society were Alfred Balk, president; Hartley Clark, vice-president; and Ruth Ann Clanton, secretary.

The National Honor Society was made a part of Rocky High in 1937 by the Senate.

Senate

In the group: Donna Handley, Sylvia Redding, Mildred McCreight, Elaine Dornacher, Evelyn Stahl, Mary Jane Simon, Anne Gibbon, Marilyn Palmquist, Sue Sudlow, Phyllis Houston, Benjamin Hunter, John C. Searle, Richard Rodgers, Dean Whitcomb, Jack Lomen, Arlene Clanton, Shirley Jones, Joie Lu Angle, Eugene Rudd, Marjorie Johnson, Gerald Pahl, Frank Edwards, George Schneider, Janet

The student governing body of Rock Island high school is the Senate. It is made up of students chosen by their senate rooms because they have qualities of good citizenship, leadership, and loyalty, and hold at least a C average in their studies.

The officers of the 1947-1948 Senate were David Lund, president; Jack Eggspuehler, vice-president; and Janet Kaminsky, secretary.

Dean E. S. Metcalf is sponsor of the Senate, and meetings are held once a month in his room during the eleventh period. Problems are brought before the Senate, discussed, and solved when possible.

Something new in the Senate this year were senators at large, who were hold-overs from last year's Senate.

Some of the activities sponsored by the group this year were Homecoming, Old Clothes and Costume Day, the Christmas project, the Amateur show, the Junior Red Cross drive, and various after-game dances.

For the past two years the Senate has been partly responsible for choosing the following year's assemblies. Bulletins advertising various acts are studied by the group; then the most popular ones are chosen.

This year the group decided to dispense with the Homecoming king and have only the queen. It was decided to do this because the ceremony was made more solemn, and also because it is not customary for a school the size of Rock Island high school to have a king.

It is the aim of the Senate to better relations between the teachers and students, and to make this an even finer school.

Senior Class History

Three years ago, a group of sophomores timidly entered the gates of higher knowledge. There was much to look forward to and now, with diplomas in hand, 373 seniors look back over their school days at Rock Island high school.

Back in 1945, Merle Hood was elected sophomore class president; he was assisted by Edward

Most of us were busy keeping up our grades

but some of our boys were active in the field of athletics. John Evans represented us on the wrestling team and Merle Hood made the varsity football team. The varsity basketball squad had three sophomores with them, Carl Hodson, Edward Taber, and Carl Sutterman.

That was the year the CYC opened. It has continued to be a meeting place of the "gang" on Wednesday night and after the games ever since.

Upon our return to school in the fall of 1946, Jerald Hart, Elizabeth Criswell, and David Lund were selected as our junior class officers.

Remember when June Haver came to school and led cheers in the assembly as she had always wanted to do? That was in our junior year.

During the Christmas vacation many took time off from work to get ready for the Snow Ball held at the Masonic hall. Brings back memories, doesn't it?

Corinne MacNeill was chosen by her fellow seniors to receive the annual D.A.R. good cit-

Coming back from vacation, we beheld a brand-new sign put up to remind us that we were going to Rock Island senior high school.

The last few weeks were a whirlwind of activities. Almost every club gave a special party to close the year. Banquets and dances took up many of our hours.

For the first time in our caps and gowns, we practiced marching. Class night, June 1, we all turned out to hear the will and prophecy. Commencement night came, and we received our diplomas. How proud we felt and yet how sad.

No longer seniors now but alumni, we look back on our days at Rocky High—and wonderful days they were—and each graduate as he leaves carries with him this thought, "Faith and love to old Rock Island, ever more we vow."

When a high school football team is mentioned in the same breath with Rock Island's crack 1944 WHAM eleven, it is indeed exceptional, but after the 1947 season the '44 powerhouse was no longer considered in a class by itself. It's true the '47 gridgers had a black mark, but ardent fans maintain that since it was by only one touchdown to undefeated Clinton, the debit was more than erased by later shining performances.

The record yardage recorded by WHAM was almost reached and exceeded by the '47 eleven, which plainly wasn't shooting for a new mark. The '47 Islanders were two and three deep at some positions, different combinations for offense and defense being continually shuttled in by Coach Almquist, with the keynote being balance and power. A record number of major letter awards was established by this year's 35 monogram winners, and the team also annexed both the Quad-City and Northwest conference crowns with unblemished loop records.

Three Islanders landed places on all-state first teams, with four more gaining honorable mention. Halfback Carl Hodson and center Jerry Hart were honored with posts on the Chicago Daily News all-state, and Dave Lund earned a first-team berth on the Champaign News-Gazette choice as well as a Daily News second-team slot. Honorable mention went to backs Eddie Taber and Tom Slater, and linemen Jack Eggspuehler and Bob Reeh.

There was no starting eleven. Hodson and Taber always started in the backfield, but an offensive combination could include Jim Swift, Tom Slater, Lloyd Widerstrom, Gordon Burwell, or Ted Freeland. Burwell, Freeland, and Augie Van De Voorde specialized in defense. Hart, Lund, Eggspuehler, and Rick Miller usually started in the line, but Meredith Ostrom, Ray Ohrstrom, Don Suess, Len Washburn, Gene Rudd, Rolle Reynolds, and Bill Holland took turns filling the other three line berths.

First team all-conference selections were Lund, Reeh, Hart, Eggspuehler, and Hodson, with Lund being the only unanimous choice. Second-team honors went to Miller, Taber,

and Slater, while Widerstrom earned honorable mention.

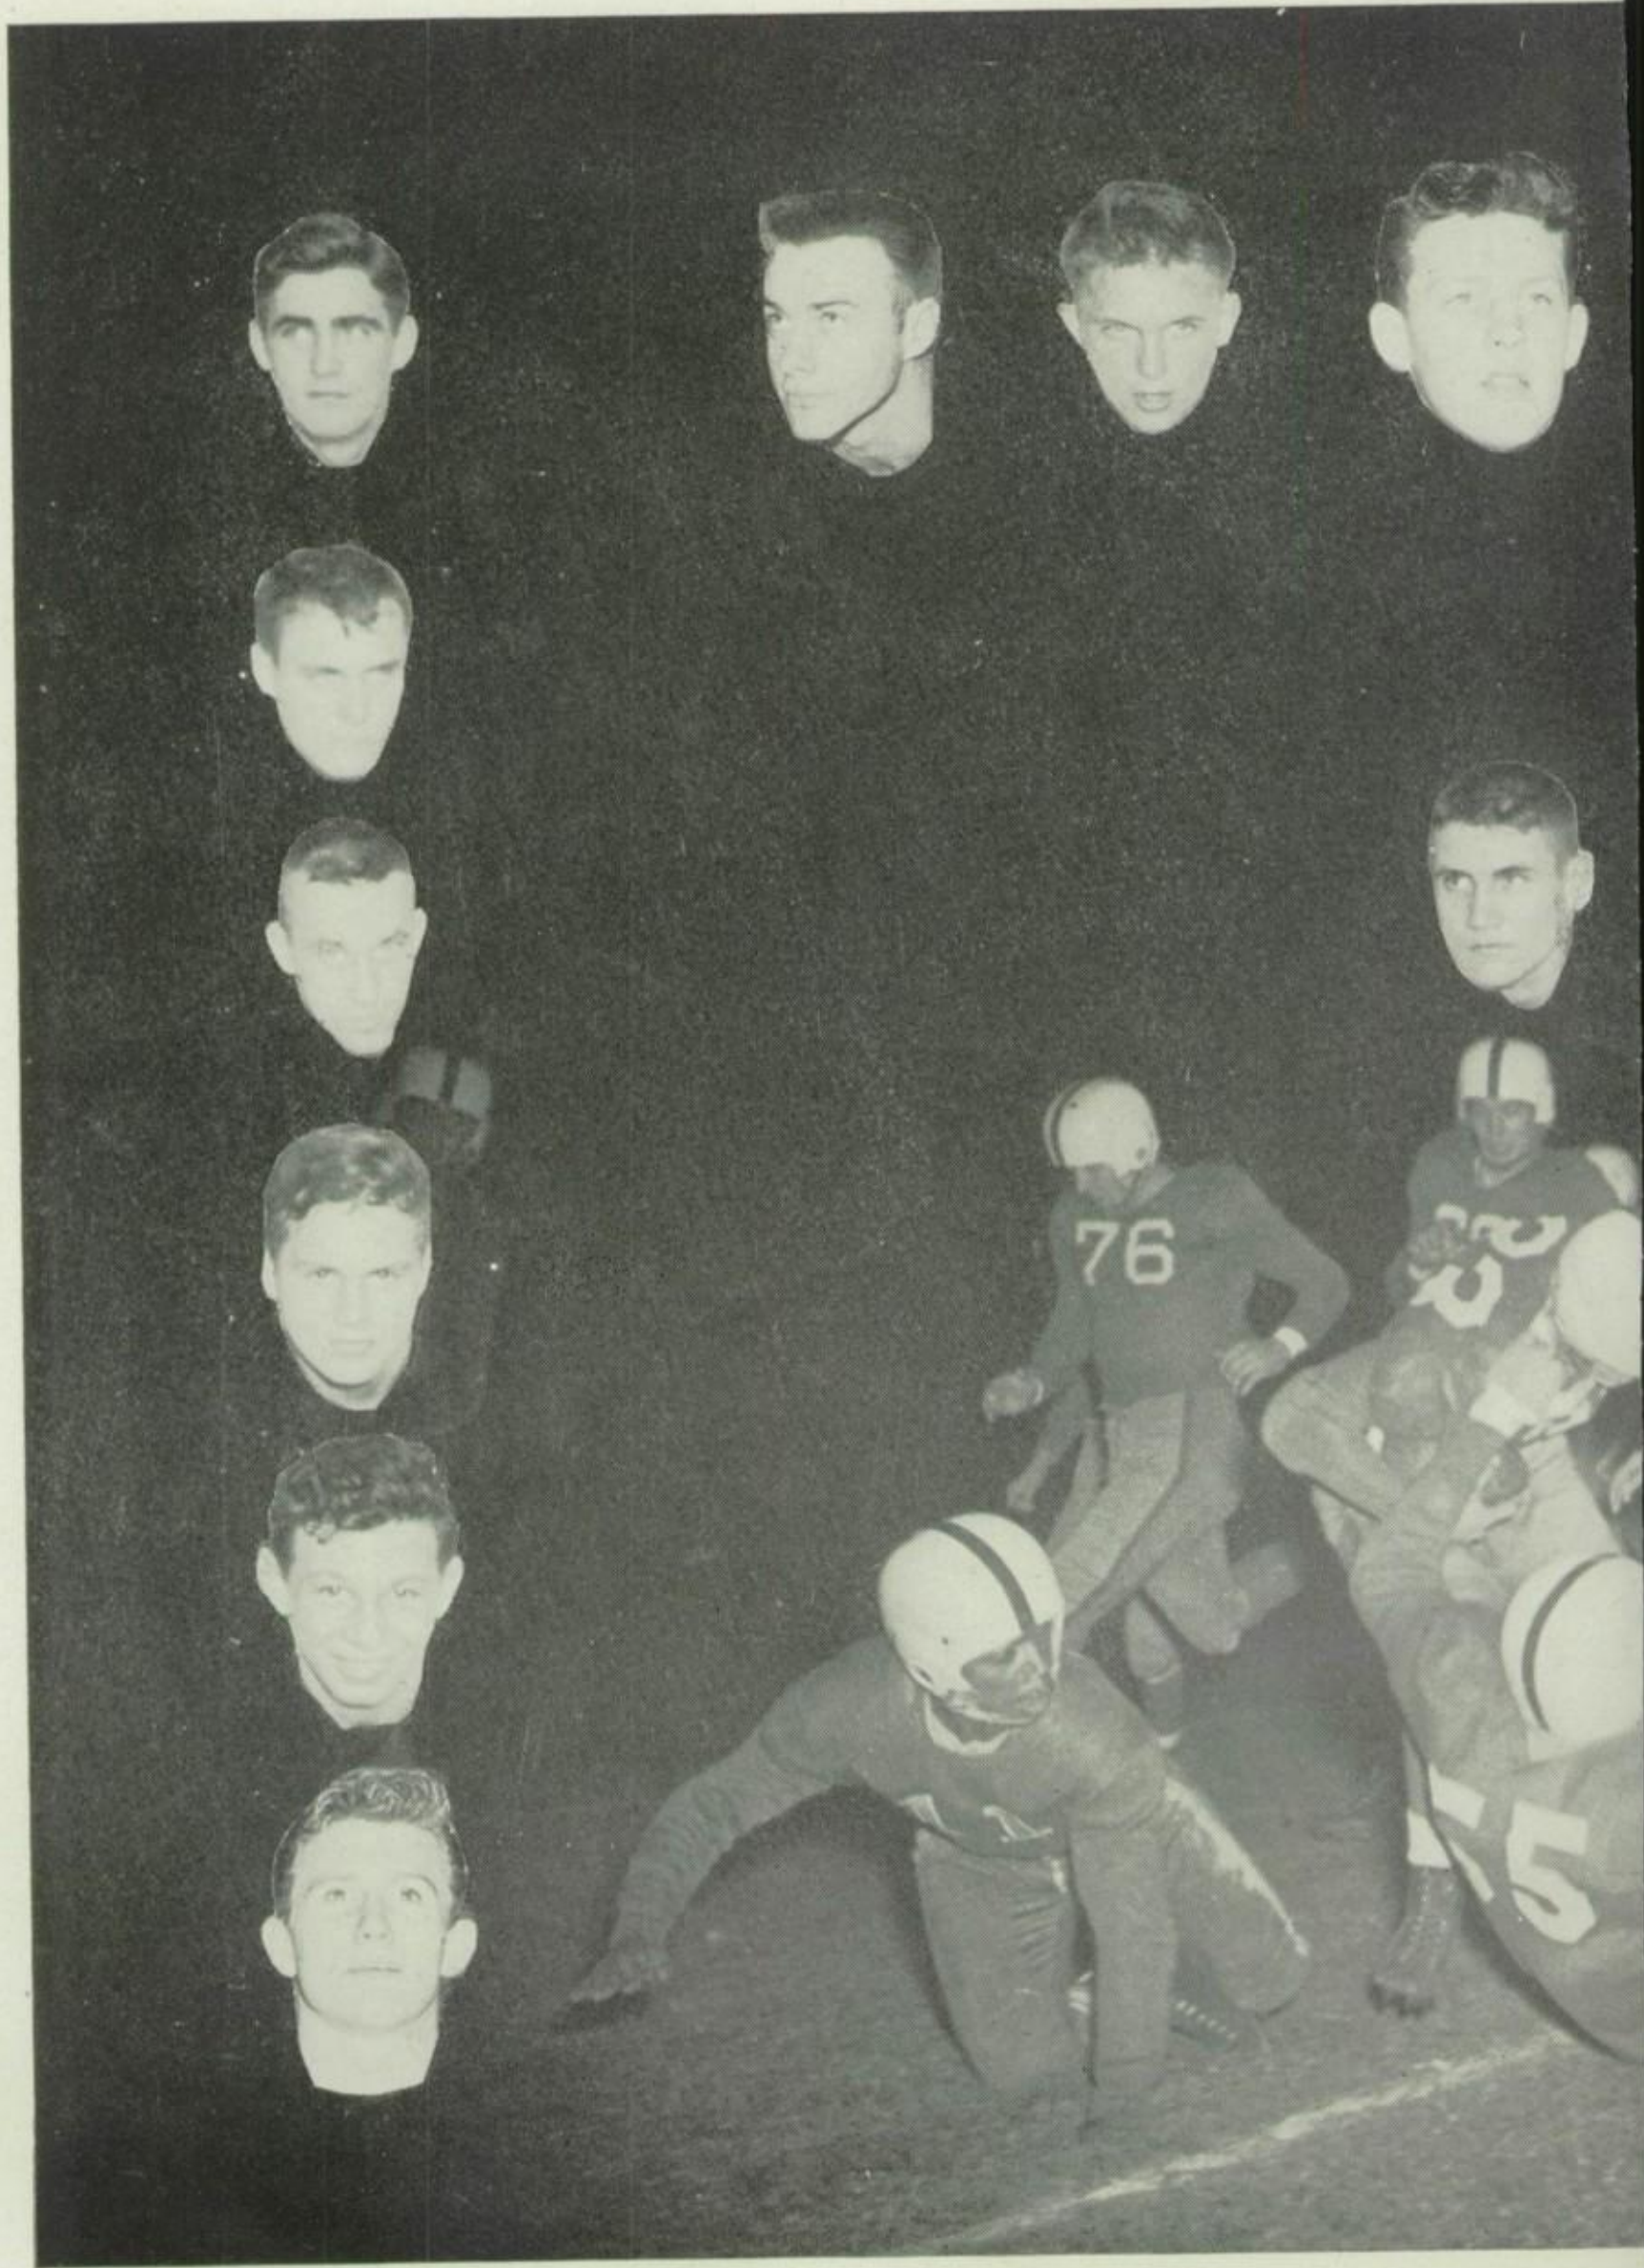

One of Rock Island high school's chief assets is having a highly competent football coaching staff, as the 1947 season fully proved. Athletic Director Harold V. Almquist has been head coach of the grid squad for seven years since moving up the hill from the Augustana college staff. Mr. Almquist's fine record speaks for itself — and loudly, what with his recording 51 wins, two ties, and only 10 losses as Islander mentor.

End Coach Herbert L. Wagner, who hails from Carthage college, where he was football and basketball tutor, had the distinction of producing one of the finest pairs of ends in Rock Island's history in Dave Lund and Jack Eggspuehler, both of whom attracted state-wide attention.

Line Coach John H. Romans has been in the coaching business at Rock Island for two years, tutoring strong lines both years, lines highly respected by opposing teams and coaches.

Eddie Taber racks up another touchdown in the Moline game. Islanders visible are Jack Eggspuehler (89), Jim Largent (77), Lloyd Widerstrom (35), and Carl Hodson (44). That's Center Jerry Hart peering under the pile-up for Taber and the ball.

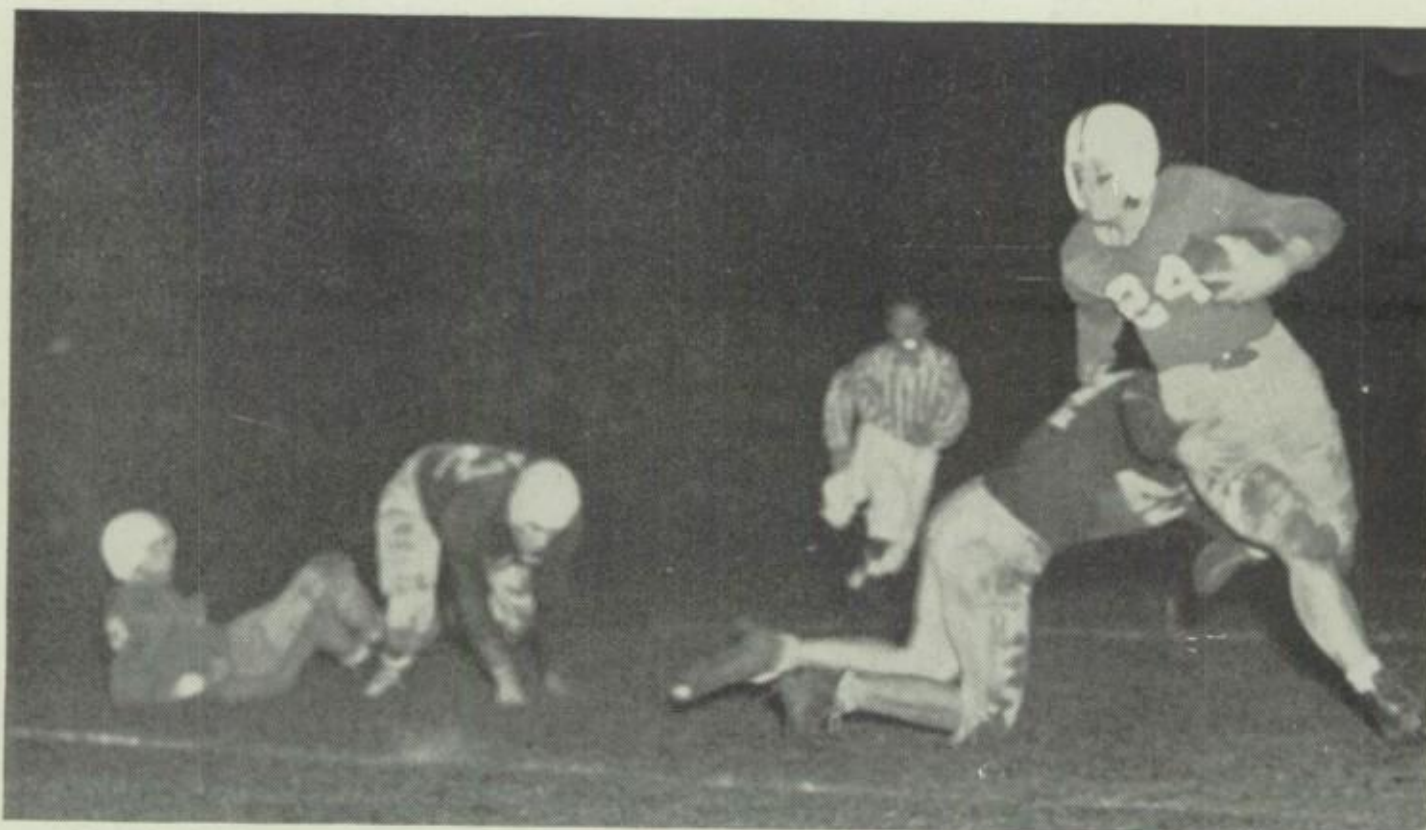

Here's how the 1947 Islander gridders kept busy: They gained 2,549 yards in nine games, an average of 283 per game. The Rocks racked up 123 first downs to their opponents' 82, an average advantage of 14 to 9 for each outing. Rock Island outscored its foes, 195 to 52, an average of 21.6 to 5.7, losing only to unbeaten Clinton.

ROCK ISLAND 20; BOWEN 6

They were outweighed, but the Rocks opened the season by outscoring their Chicago visitors in a productive second quarter. Jim Swift smashed over from 10 yards out early in the period, followed by Ted Freeland's tally minutes later. Eddie Taber rifled a last-quarter toss to Hodson for the final score. Jerry Hart's conversion string began here.

ROCK ISLAND 7; CLINTON 15

The Islanders made disastrous mistakes—Clinton didn't. Thus the lone black mark of the season was penciled on the Rocks' slate, while the River Kings finished undefeated. Four fumbles and a trio of intercepted passes offset the Islanders' fourth-period touchdown from a flashy lateral-pass exchange.

Carl Hodson slides through the grasp of a Streak defender in the Galesburg game. Hodson had just pilfered a Galesburg pass and proceeded to run it back 15 yards. Jerry Hart is visible on the ground, far left, after blocking for his team mate.

ROCK ISLAND 21; DEKALB 7

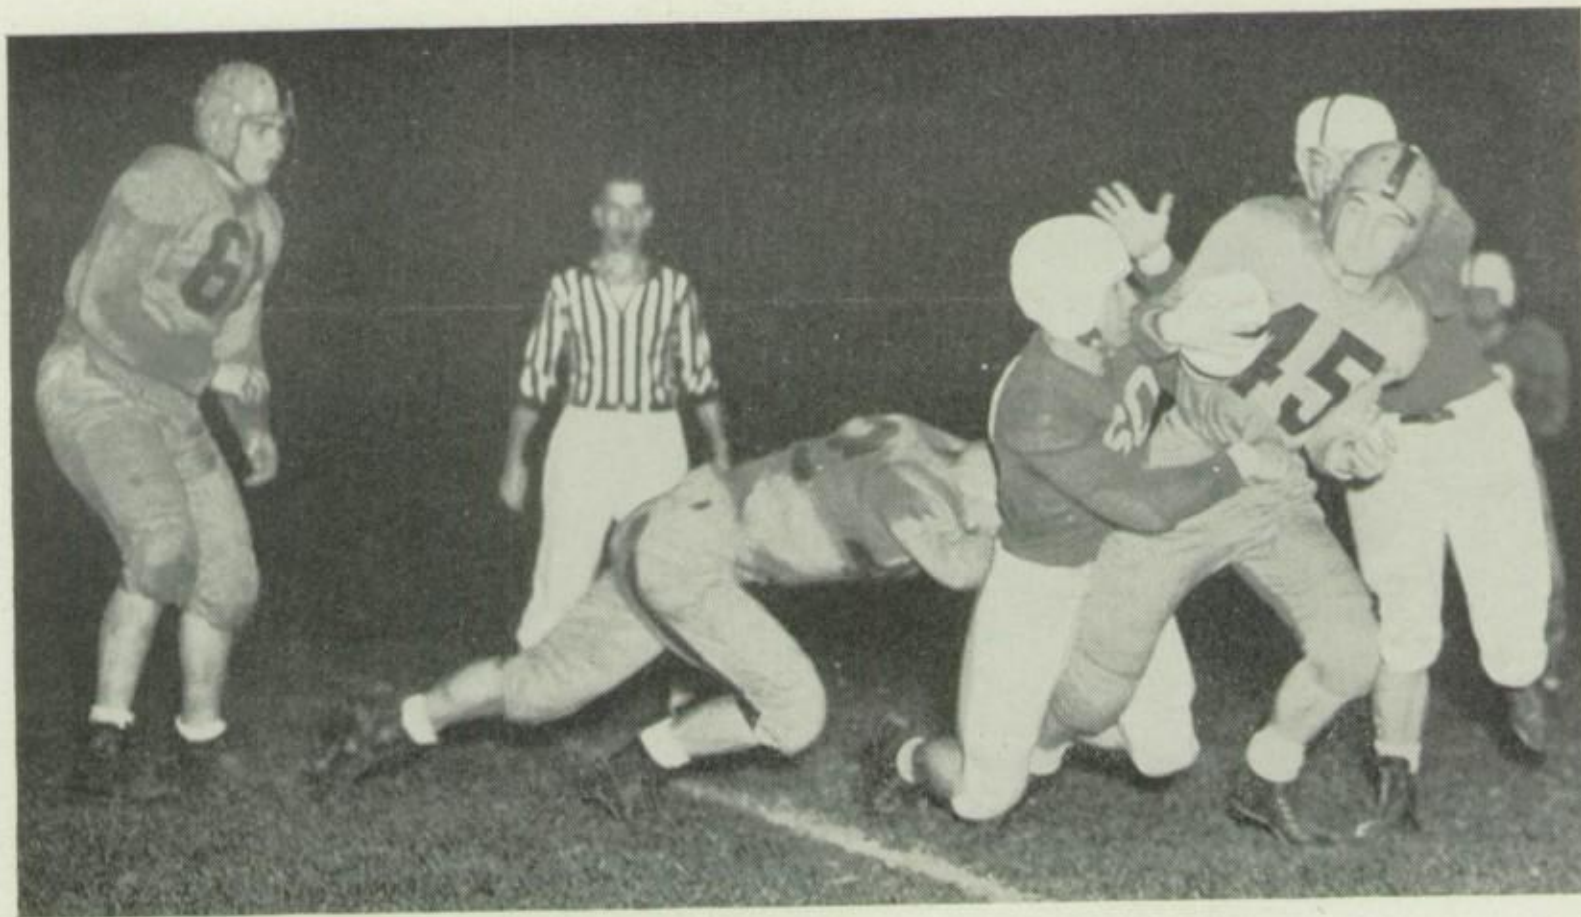

Fully recovered from their previous setback, the Rocks methodically cut down DeKalb's Barbs with tallies in all but the third stanza. Tom Slater handled the ground work and Taber and Hodson flipped aerials for an amazing 22 first downs and 243 yards gained. Burwell, Rock fullback, scored twice and Widerstrom tallied once, to which Hart added three perfect conversions.

ROCK ISLAND 30; MOLINE 12

Both teams turned in superb performances before a record stadium crowd of 14,000, but the Islanders were best. Lloyd Widerstrom, who averaged 15 yards per try, crossed the goal three times and Taber counted once, while ends Lund and Eggspuehler sparkled on defense. Hart kicked a field goal and three extra points, missing his first conversion-try of the season following TD No. 3.

Taber gets piled on again, this time in the Bowen game. Eddie's white helmet is visible in the center of the pile, where he clutches the ball for a first down. Don Lutz (15), Don Suess (78), Meredith Ostrom (73), Rick Miller (78), and Dave Lund (87) rush to the rescue of their flattened team mate, buried beneath no less than six Bowenites.

Jake Evans and Don Suess persuade Thomas of East Moline to stop in his tracks, but not without opposition by two other East Moliners.

ROCK ISLAND 21; KEWANEE 0

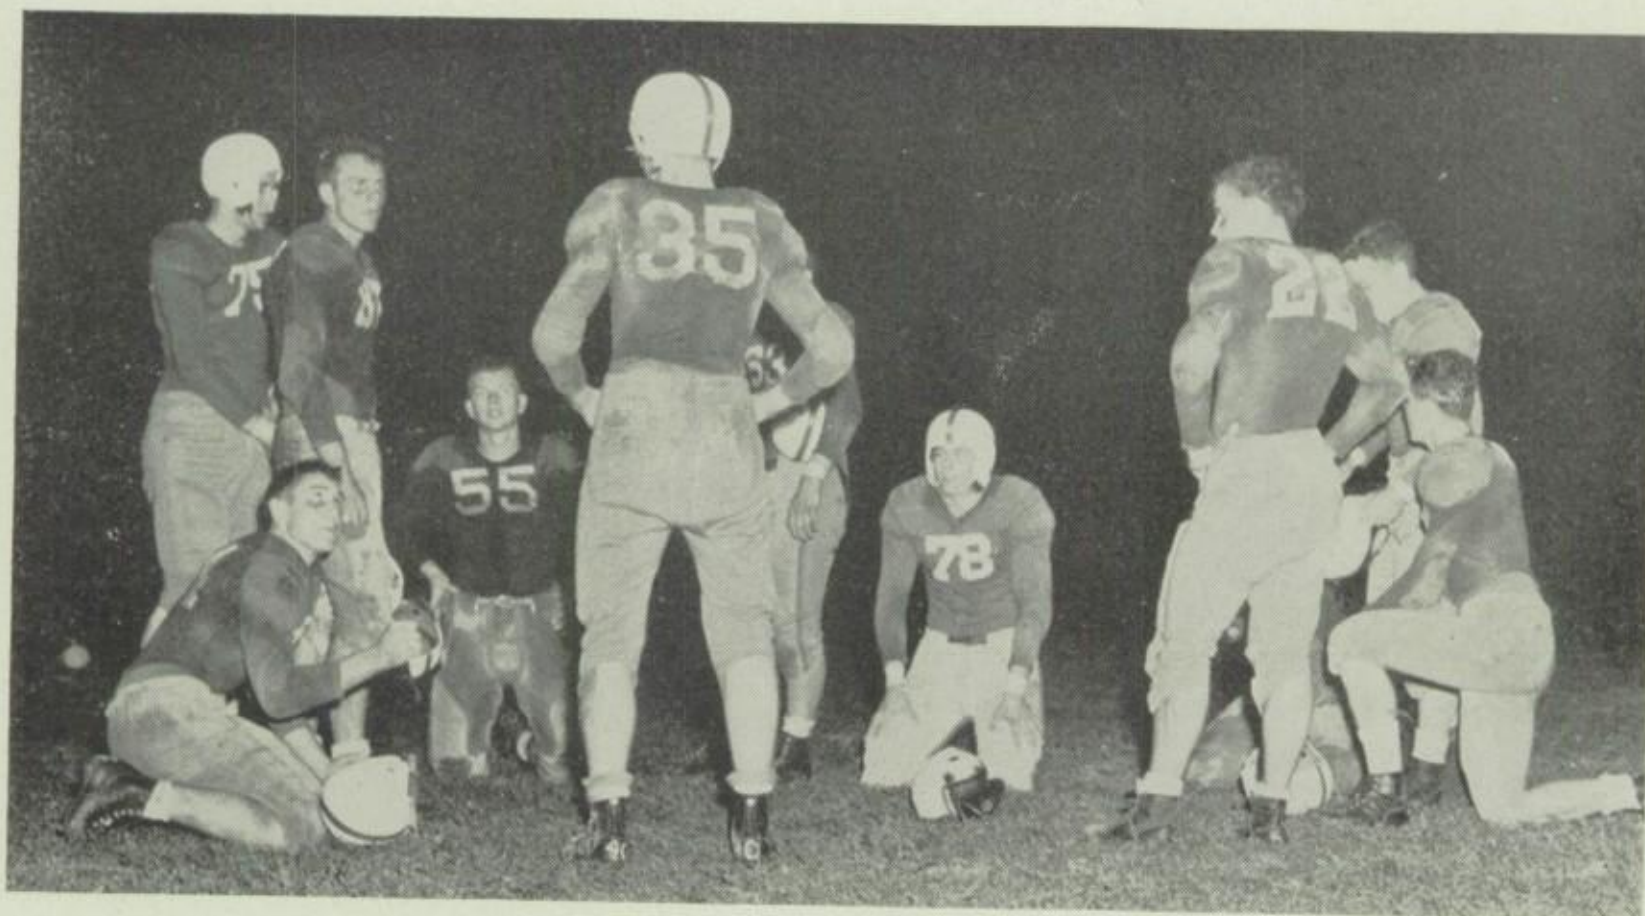

The Islanders can thank Eddie Taber's passing arm for this one. Taber pitched two touchdown strikes to Hodson and one to Lund after the Crimson ground machine stalled, thus pulling the Rocks out of offensive doldrums. Washburn sparkled in a series of stubborn goal-line stands that kept the Boilers at bay while Islander aerialists completed six of nine tosses.

ROCK ISLAND 16; EAST MOLINE 0

Grinding out yardage almost at will, plus maintaining a stingy defense that allowed only two Panther first downs, the Islanders made their Soule Bowl visit a successful one. Hodson and Widerstrom tallied touchdowns, and a safety added two points, while the Crimson armor was dented for only 55 yards on a meager 15 East Moline running plays. Two Islander TD efforts fizzled near pay dirt.

Widerstrom faces life all alone against two Davenporters after picking up 30 yards on a statue-of-liberty play. He didn't drop the ball, either, though it looks as if it's slipping.

ROCK ISLAND 20; GALESBURG 6

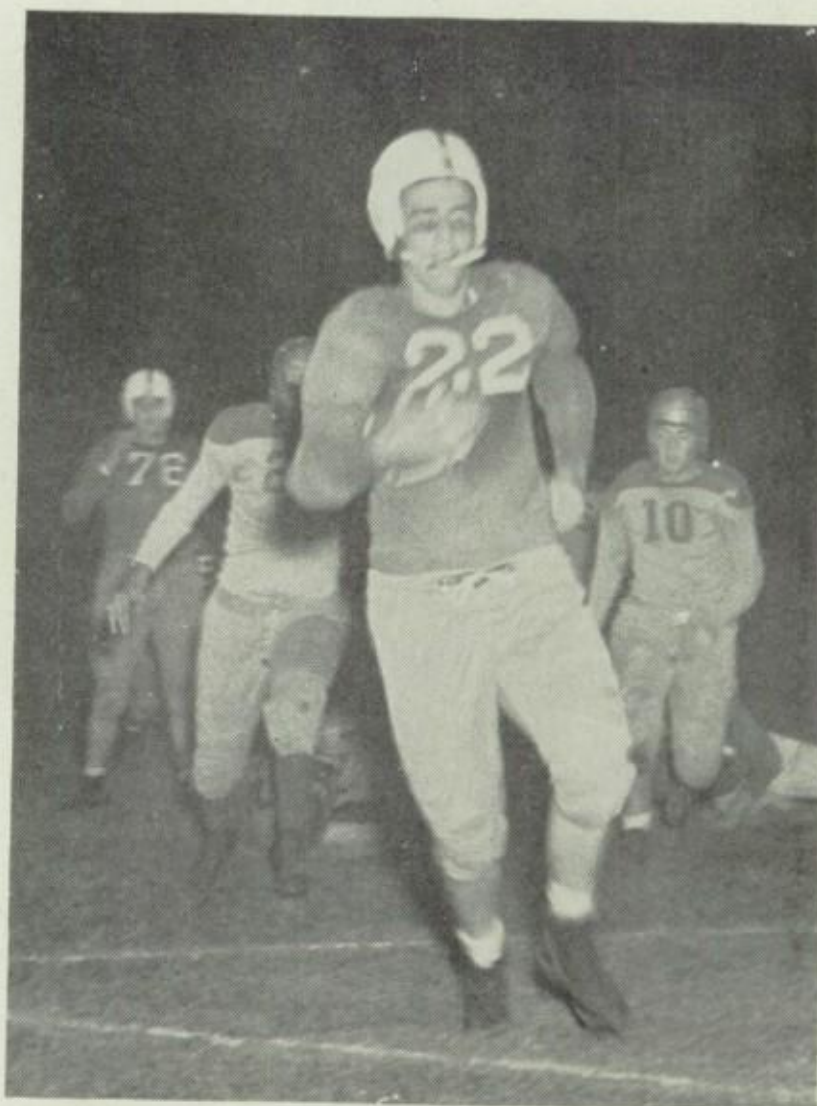

Following their Homecoming queen's decree, the Rocks annexed their fourth loop win to become kings of Northwest conference football. After a sluggish first quarter, Swift, Hodson, and Slater paraded over for touchdowns, Hart converting two of three extra-point chances. Galesburg's lone tally came against the Rock reserves with only 45 seconds left to play.

ROCK ISLAND 20; DAVENPORT 6

Long runs in short spurts deposited the Quad-City loop trophy in the Islander showcase by the same score which won the Northwest crown. Carl Hodson scampered 48 yards for one score, Eddie Taber ran 17 for the next, and Lloyd Widerstrom closed activities with a 58-yard dash. Rick Miller and Dave Lund starred in Rock Island's defense department.

ROCK ISLAND 40; QUINCY 0

The night was cold but the Rocks were hot, romping to six touchdowns while blanking Quincy's Blue Devils. Taber and Hodson visited the end zone twice each, to which Lutz and Eggspuehler contributed a tally apiece. Taber, Hodson, and Eggspuehler blazed the trail to 341 yards from scrimmage as 23 senior gridders donned their Crimson suits for the final time. Hart converted his twenty-second extra point after the sixth touchdown.

Jim Swift hustles over the goal line in the Bowen game, outdistancing everyone in sight. Lennie Washburn (76) watches in the background.

Homecoming

Rocky High presented its own Queen for a Day Oct. 26 when Roxanne Belyea was crowned Homecoming queen by Dave Lund, president of the senate and all-state football player. Queen Roxanne began her reign in an assembly by issuing a decree to beat Galesburg—which the football team carried out to the letter.

Serving as attendants to her Royal Highness were Sue Sudlow, Evelyn Stahl, and Joan Mangelsdorf, each of whom was presented with a bouquet at the coronation ceremonies. The royal quartet put in its appearance before game time, greeting the crowd before assuming seats at the Rock Island end of the gridiron.

After cheering their favorites to a 20-6 victory, the royal contingent reigned over a Homecoming dance in the gym, and modeled clothing in a Rock Island department store as an added feature of Homecoming. Queen Roxanne received a gold football inscribed "Queen, 1947".

On faculty advice, the practice of electing a king was discontinued this year for the first time.

The 1947 sophomore grid squad didn't post as illustrious a record as its two most recent predecessors, but Coach Julien C. Peterson's Pebbles managed to hang up a highly respectable mark of five wins, two ties, and a single loss for their 1947 work. The 1946 sophs were handed their only defeat in the season's opener, and the 1945 yearlings had their undefeated season marred by a first-game tie, but this year's eleven successfully weathered the initial contest, whitewashing Davenport's Little Imps, 13-0.

The sharpest ax to fall on the Little Rocks made the "most unkindest cut of all" in the Calvin Coolidge tilt, in which the Pebbles' own nervousness and errors allowed the Moliners to gain a narrow 12-6 decision. Penalties and pilfered passes robbed the sophs of at least two touchdowns in the making. Prior to this encounter, the Pebbles rocked St. Ambrose in a free-scoring tilt, 32-20. Ambrose scored all its points in the final stanza while Rock Island gained only one fourth-quarter score.

Game No. 4 with Kewanee ended with Coach Peterson's eleven way out in front, 25-6, but the next match wasn't so successful. East Moline and the Pebbles battled to a 0-0 stalemate, each team having one golden scoring chance that tarnished near the goal, and affairs weren't less hectic because the Panther sophs saved their push to the 2-yard line for the final minute.

Next on the chopping block came Galesburg's Ponies, who were galloped over by a 26-7 count in a show of power by the Islander sophs. Once more the Pebbles rode for a fall after racking up a one-sided win, for the next game ended in a 13-13 deadlock against Davenport, the Imps coming back in the second half to tie proceedings. Closing the season the right way, the Pebbles eked out a 14-12 verdict over John Deere. Line coach Howard M. Lundeen saw his products form protection for George Hardin's two conversions, which meant the difference between a tie and a win.

Football Award Banquet

Not one, not two, but three banquets were given the 1947 Islander football team following its banner season, the climax of the knife-and-fork battles being the annual banquet sponsored by the Rock Island Junior Chamber of Commerce in the high school cafeteria. Six awards are made each year to outstanding individual performers and the honorary captain is chosen before the banquet, but this year a deadlock for the most valuable player award raised the number to seven trophies. The awards:

Center Jerry Hart, named honorary captain, was placed on the Chicago Daily News all-state team along with halfback Carl Hodson the morning after the banquet. Hart was almost unanimously chosen by his teammates for captain. The lone junior receiving one of the above awards was Rick Miller, second-team all-conference guard.

Rival Quad-City conference coaches were present to congratulate the Islanders on winning the league championship, tossing in an occasional joke to keep the crowd in a jovial mood.

Coach Almquist introduced his Islander gridders individually, commending them both collectively and singly before the position was reversed by several prominent Rock Island citizens and football fans, who put Mr. Almquist on the receiving end of the praise for his fine coaching record.

About 300 persons attended the affair, with Larry (Moon) Mullins, former Notre Dame gridiron great, serving as toastmaster. This banquet followed those sponsored by the Elks lodge and Kiwanis club of Rock Island.

Cheerleaders

Rocky High students produce one type of noise that is popular with all true Islander athletic fans, and it's the business of the cheerleaders to see that generous quantities of this organized noise are produced.

Six girls handled the cheerleading duties for the football games, but when the scene of athletic action was shifted to the gym for basketball, the squad was trimmed to four, Pat Nelson, Edith MacDougall, Janet Kaminsky, and Elaine Dornacher. Rosemary Wilkens and Roxanne Belyea aided this quartet on the gridiron.

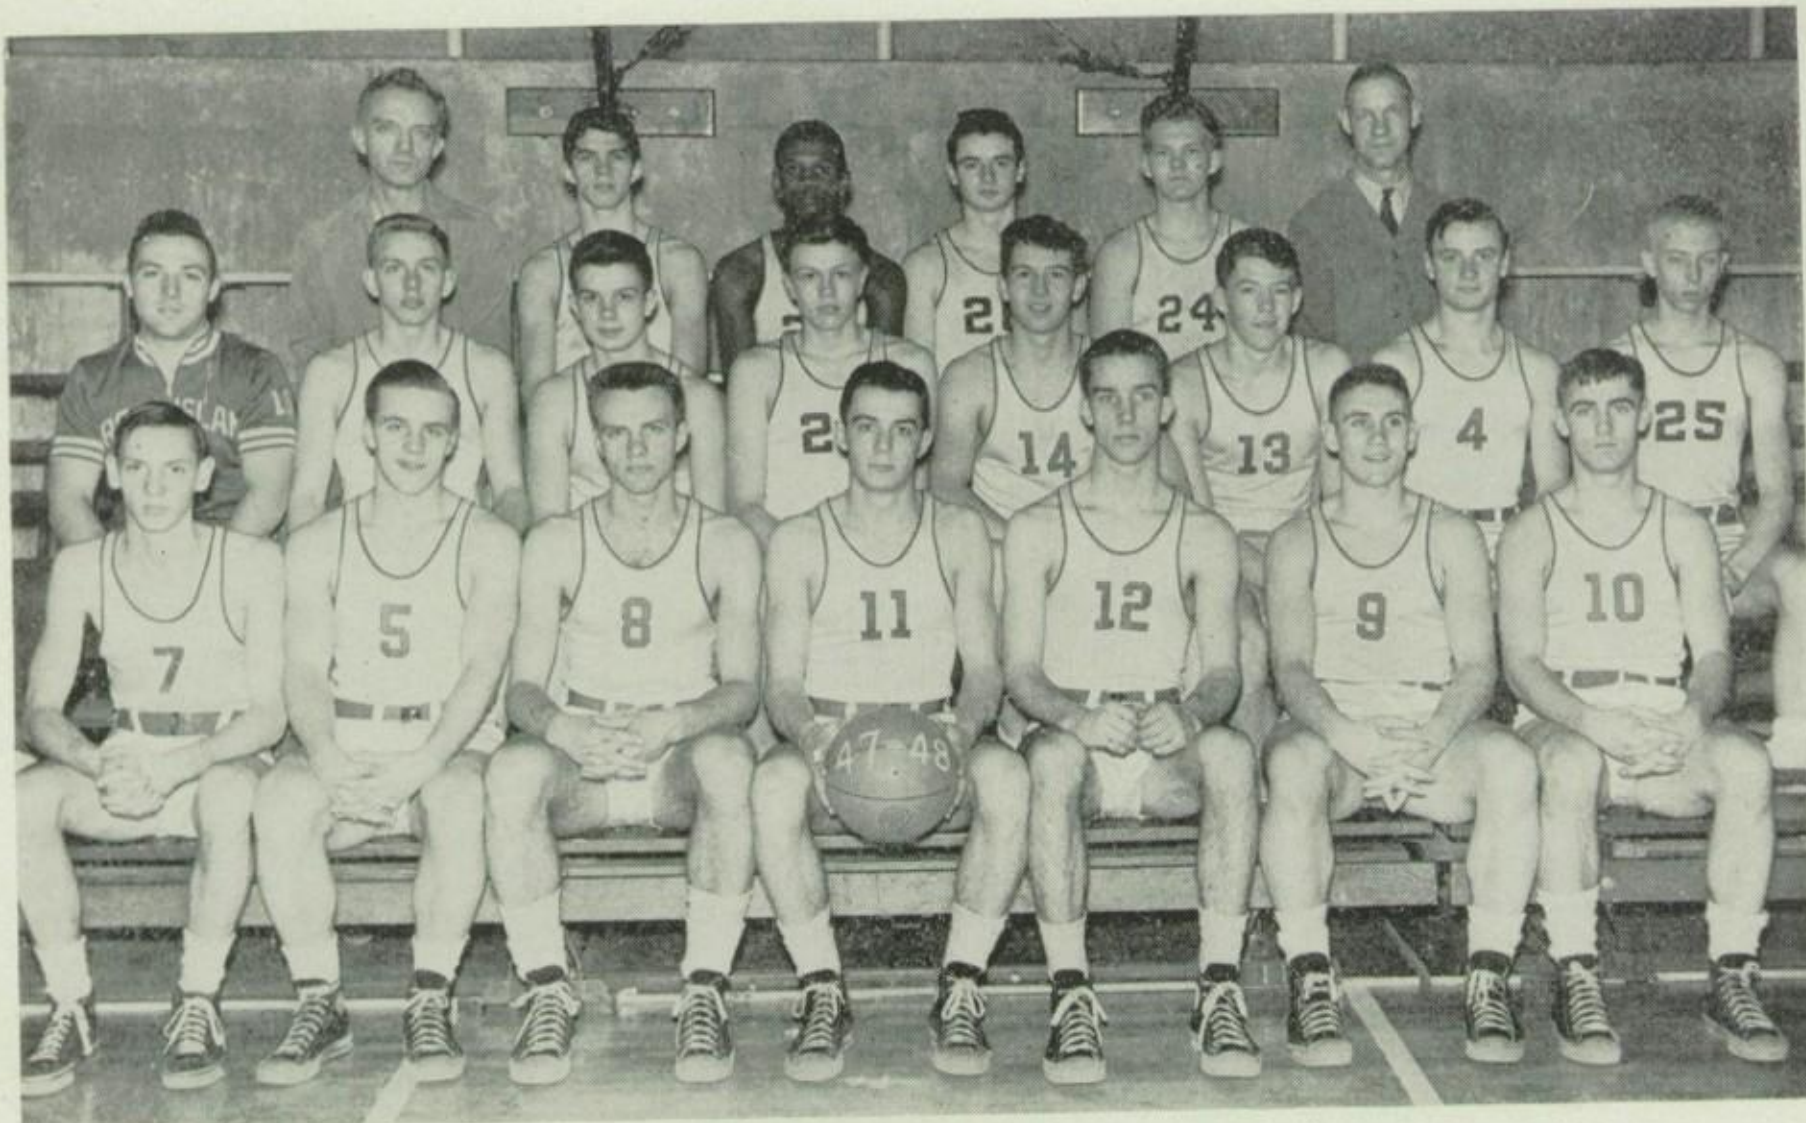

The girls' antics were pepped up during basketball season by the appearance of new crimson uniforms, designed by the cheerleaders themselves. The cheerleading squad was chosen by Principal Owen B. Wright, Dean Florence J. Liebke, and Deane H. Ball after elimination tryouts in September.

Variety was the spice of the sophomore squad, with new faces being added or subtracted every game. Hence, there was no one group of Pebble-pushers.

Row 2: Manager Dave Shradar, Bob Gippert, Charles Wilson,

If just one quarter per game could have been eliminated, Coach Herbert L. Wagner's 1947-1948 basketball squad would have finished the season with at least eight more wins, but since basketball is a four-period game the Islanders' one-period lapses tripped them up enough times to write 14 losses against 11 wins as the final record. Included in the loss column were two successive one-point setbacks, an overtime reversal, and a pair of three-point black marks, all attributable to one stanza when offense took a holiday from the unwilling Rocks.

Coach Wagner jockeyed the line-up considerably at intervals during the season, finally promoting two cagers from the crack sophomore squad to starting berths midway in the schedule. Joe Collier, who capably took over the center duties, and Kenny Melow, who moved into a starting guard position, were the promoted Pebbles.

Spark-plug Don Atkins emerged as the Islanders' chief scoring punch, finishing second in Northwest conference individual scoring. Don was noted for his uncanny timing and unorthodox shooting—which helped provide a berth for him on the Argus-Dispatch all-conference team and honorable mention in the Chicago Daily News all-state choices.

Eddie Taber, who was elected honorary captain, attracted enough attention with his all-around play to rate a second-team all-conference berth, finishing the season second in the Islander scoring parade.

Dave Lund played his role as Islander handyman in creditable fashion, punching in points when they were badly needed. Rounding out the list of cagers who owned frequent starting berths are Carl Hodson and Augie Van De Voorde, whose job of ball-handling and passing raised eyebrows all season. Howie Peck was an able substitute at a guard slot.

The Eddie Gippert Free-Throw trophy was initiated into Islander awards this year, Dave Lund being the first name inscribed on the circulating trophy. The award is made for the highest free-throw percentage for a minimum of 30 attempts. Lund's mark was 64 per cent.

ROCK ISLAND 22; CANTON 40

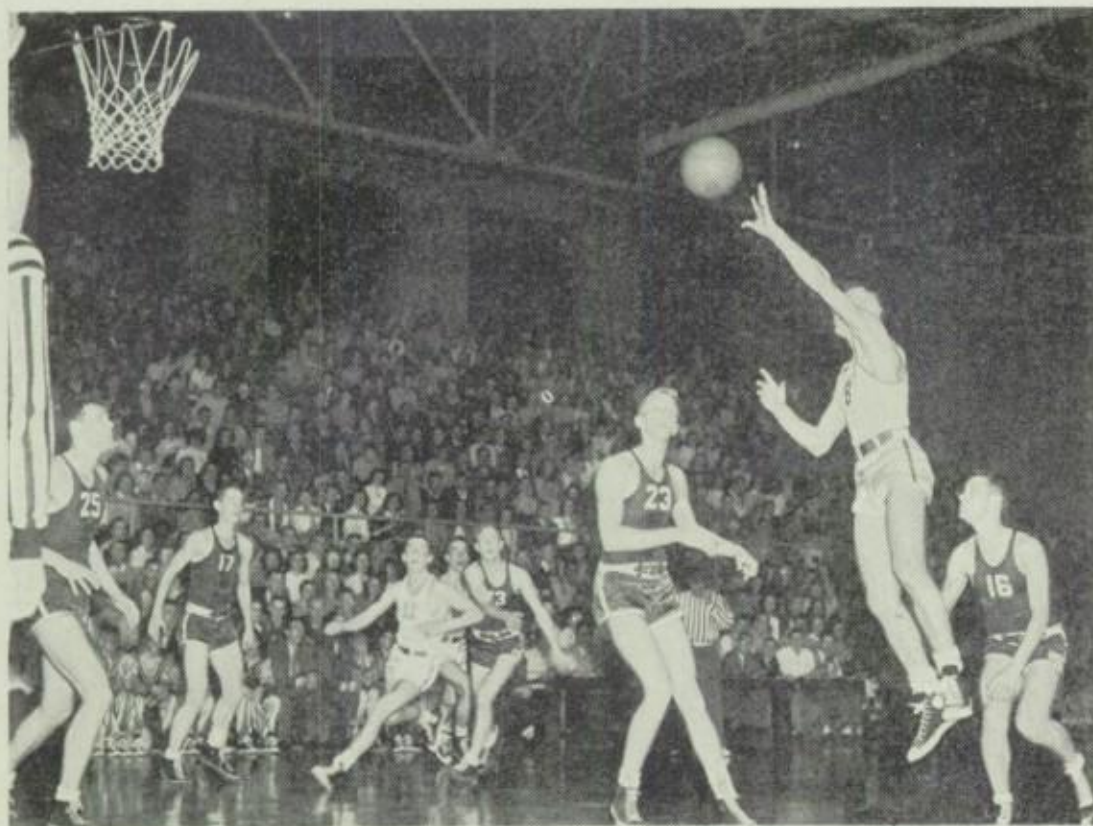

Canton's basket was busiest in the season's opener for both teams. Coach Herbert L. Wagner continually experimented in a futile effort to uncover a clicking combination, but his Rocks simply were ice-cold, seeing only 14 per cent of their shots trickle through. Typical of the night's sorrows were the first and third periods when Coach Wagner's crew got only 3 and 2 points, respectively. Don Atkins sparked the Rocks with 11 points.

ROCK ISLAND 43; GENESEO 26

Recovering from Friday's impotence at the hoops, the Crimson sank 34 per cent of their field pokes in the home opener of the season. They were ahead only 8-7 going in to the second quarter, but the locals stepped on the gas to pull away when Eddie Taber's long shots started to hit the mark. A trio of veterans led the scoring, Taber collecting 12, and Hodson and Atkins 11 points each.

Dave Lund lets fly a driving one-hander from the circle in the first Moline game. Taber (11) races in for the rebound, with Atkins, partially obscured, close behind.

DON ATKINS

ROCK ISLAND 31
CLINTON 23

It was revenge for the football team's lone reversal plus win No. 4 as the Rocky High dribblers set down Clinton's River Kings on a last-half splurge. Carl Hodson dialed six of his 10-point total as the second half opened, nudging the Rock scorers into action.

ROCK ISLAND 49; WELLS 46

All fans with weak hearts might well have left early at the first genuine thriller of the season in Rock Island's gym. Neither team led by more than two baskets at any point, and it took Carl Hodson's lay-up 45 seconds before the gun to gain the verdict for the Crimson. Atkins and Green claimed 15 and 12 markers, respectively.

ROCK ISLAND 44; DIXON 47

What happened to the Islanders on the first night of a two-game road trip—shouldn't have. Leading until the final two minutes, the Rocks fell behind but managed to knot the score and gain an overtime, through the courtesy of Dave Lund's free toss. That's when the hot hosts got hotter, dumping the Islanders in the overtime in spite of Atkins' 21-point effort for the evening.

ROCK ISLAND 46; ST. AMBROSE 32

Fully outfitted in their gaudiest shooting togs, Coach Wagner's Islanders put on a shooting show for a packed house of bipartisan fans. The Crimson cagers had no percentage worries, meshing a respectable 42 per cent of 48 shot attempts, but it took a last-half spree to do the trick. Atkins, Hodson, and Taber led with 14, 12, and 11 tallies.

ROCK ISLAND 53; KEWANEE 38

Rock Island defended its Northwest loop title by flashing mid-season form in the league opener, but little did the Islanders know they would lose their crown as the race progressed. Another hot-shot average, .418, buried the Boilers on the Kewanee court, and the Rocks' passing game was sharp. Don Atkins was the standout with 16 points, hitting on seven of thirteen shots.

EDDIE TABER

ROCK ISLAND 48
GALESBURG 54

They were cold at the beginning, and colder before half-time; so Rock Island's final-period spurt was too little and too late to salvage a Northwest loop decision. The Wagnermen got caught with their guards down all too often, but they managed to climb to within three baskets at the automatic time-out due to Lund's timely counters.

DAVE LUND

ROCK ISLAND 50; BELVIDERE 45

Hotly debating the issue for three periods, Belvidere's lanky dribblers finally succumbed to a determined last-quarter drive by the Wagnermen. Atkins again was the big noise in the scoring band with 21 tallies, scoring 12 of them in first-half action. Rock Island's passing game was sharp, setting up close-in shots that aided the 34 per cent average posted.

ROCK ISLAND 41; PEKIN 54

The visiting Chinks were rated No. 1 in Illinois, and few Islander fans disputed it after watching their favorites fall before a 45 per cent shot average on long pokes by the amazing Chinks. Atkins and Green got 13 and 11 points, respectively, but it wasn't enough to offset Pekin's steady pecking away at the nets.

ROCK ISLAND 31

MOLINE 43

Moline's tall twosome at center and forward meant grief for the Islanders—and the first Quad-City loop loss. Rock Island was outrebounded, outshot, and outscored by their taller foes, but not outfought. They were hanging in the running until the final period, but a 20-per cent shot mark kept basket activity low.

DAVENPORT 44

Leading the defending champions of Iowa, 9-4, during first-period action, the Islanders stumbled in the next two quarters while Davenport sizzled the hoops for 24 points. Don Atkins tallied 16 points for the night, but the experienced Blue Devils annexed their twenty fifth straight victory.

ROCK ISLAND 35; MONMOUTH 40

It wasn't a happy Saturday night for Rock Island. The Islanders had everything under control with a 19-12 half-time margin when Rock Island's side of the scoreboard suddenly had nothing to record. Monmouth's last-half rush swept the Wagnermen off the floor, even though the Crimson collected 15 field goals to the Zippers' 14. A total of 23 fouls called on the Rocks gave the Zips their free-throw advantage of 12 to 5.

ROCK ISLAND 39; EAST MOLINE 40

This was really a heartbreaker! Making almost a carbon copy of the Monmouth loss, the Islanders outscored their foes from the field, 15 to 14, only to lose on free throws. The Islander line-up, revamped to include sophomores Joe Collier and Kenny Melow, turned in a co-ordinated performance, but East Moline grabbed a one-point lead and held it by stalling three minutes near the end of the encounter.

CARL HODSON

ROCK ISLAND 33
MACOMB 45

Macomb's Bombers cooked up a second-half atomic explosion of 25 points to the Islanders' anemic 10, the story in a bombshell of Rock Island's eighth straight reverse. The infamous bad quarter for the Crimson extended over the entire last half when a six-point lead melted away fast. One consolation — Macomb fizzled away 17 free-throw opportunities.

Taber climbs out of a maze of Moliners for a shot. Van De Voorde watches in foreground.

ROCK ISLAND 35; MOLINE 38

Moline won the game, but the Rocks won the war of nerves, providing a thorough scare by knotting things up at 32-all with six minutes left. A cold six minutes followed, the Maroons stalling out three minutes at the end to preserve a narrow margin. Collier's pivot shot was in the groove for 10 points on three of six successful pokes and four gratis tosses.

ROCK ISLAND 50; ST. JOSEPH'S 29

The regulars sat most of this one out after racing to a 34-14 half-time advantage, but Coach Wagner's reserves held up their end of scoring in claiming the city title for Rock Island high school. Collier, Taber, and Atkins were a terrific threesome during their short stay, ringing the bell for 10 markers apiece.

ROCK ISLAND 44; WEST ROCKFORD 56

Six straight defeats—and it could have been different except for a frigid Rock Island first half. Wagner's workers never were able to overcome a 39-17 half-time deficit, although Atkins and Hodson lit a flame for a third-period rally. This pair copped scoring honors with 13 and 12-point totals.

ROCK ISLAND 38; KEWANEE 39

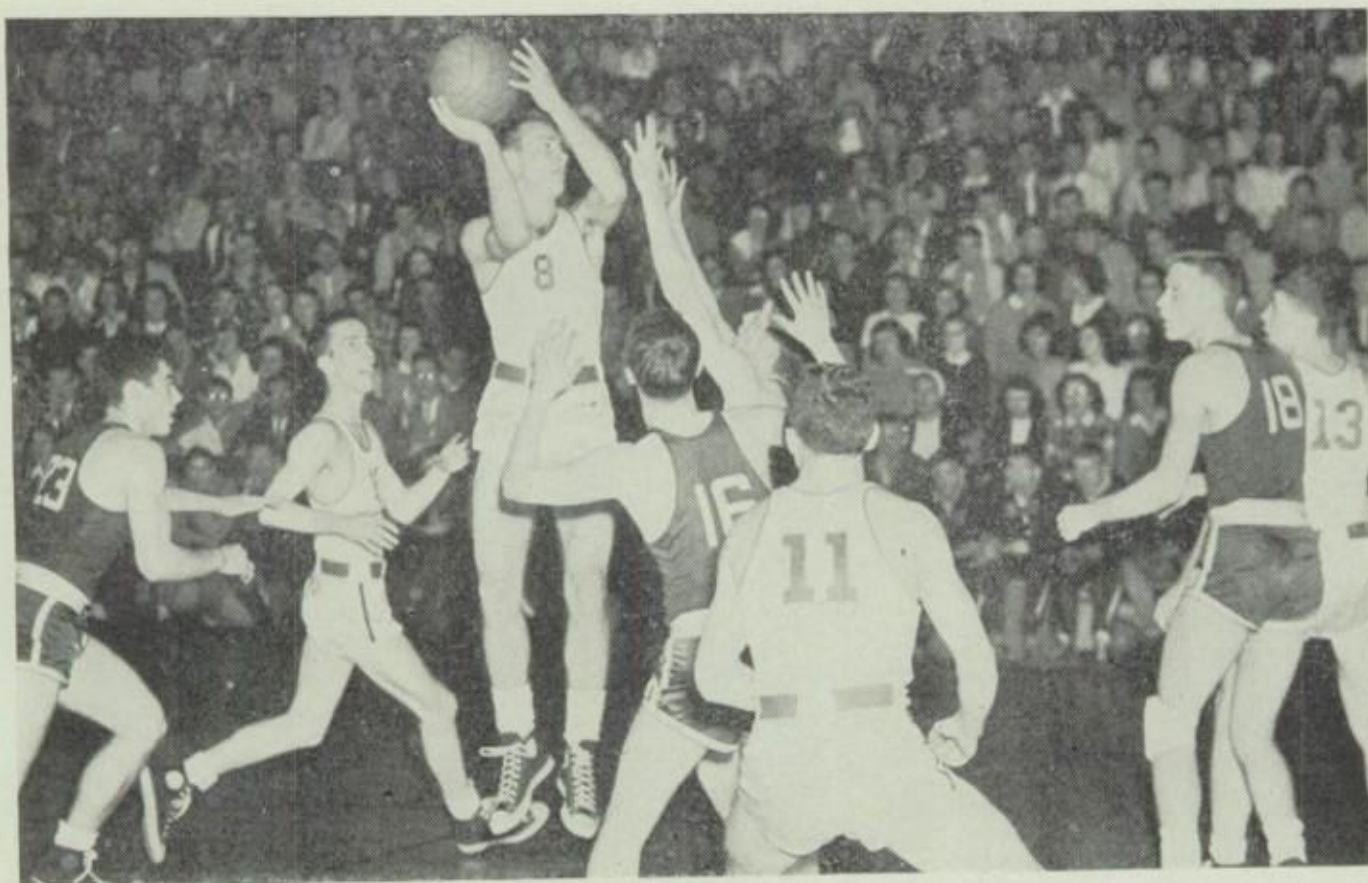

Rock Island started off like the proverbial house afire, racing to a 22-11 half-time lead, but couldn't keep the flames burning, losing by one big point—which the Boilers gained in the closing two minutes. Atkins and Collier pushed in 23 points between them, but the Islanders slipped into the conference cellar.

ROCK ISLAND 43
GALESBURG 37

Don Atkins' after-game ear-to-ear grin demonstrated Islander sentiments at snapping the eight-game losing skein. After knotting the count at half-time, the Rocks threw up a well-knit defense, limiting Galesburg to distance pokes. Dave Lund sparked the attack with 14 tallies, the floor work being commanded by Augie Van De Voorde's clutch dribble-demonstration.

HOWARD PECK

ROCK ISLAND 58; MONMOUTH 29

Amazing in their first meeting, it was the Zippers' turn to be amazed while the Rocks climbed out of the conference cellar with a mighty 58-point attack. Collier played his finest game of the year, pocketing 17 points besides monopolizing rebounding honors. Coach Wagner's workers led, 48-23, going into the final period.

ROCK ISLAND 45; DAVENPORT 61

Both teams ignored defense, and Lady Luck ignored the Rocks in first-period play, the Quad-City crown going to Davenport's mighty Blue Devils. It was a futile first stanza which Davenport used for a 16-2 lead that put the Rocks on the rocks, even though they stormed back to regain form for the remaining minutes. Only 17 of 75 Islander shots connected.

Eddie Taber isn't alone as he hauls in a rebound during the Clinton game, with the entire Islander team in on the play. Left to right: Hodson (9), Green (6), Taber (with ball), Van De Voorde, and Atkins.

Atkins leads the field in a chase for a loose ball during the second Monmouth game. That's Collier's head above the crowd below the basket.

ROCK ISLAND 57; EAST MOLINE 41

Sweet revenge for a 1-point setback besides closing regular-season play with a win was Rock Island's reward at the end of the rainbow. Don Atkins vaulted into second place among Northwest loop scorers with his third 21-point total of the season, and Joe Collier shadowed him closely with 14 tallies. East Moline was convinced when the Rocks piled up a 41-25 third-quarter lead.

Taber aims one basketward during the Moline tourney finale. Atkins and Henss engage in a race toward the basket while Moline's Ken Carsen waves a futile arm in front of Taber

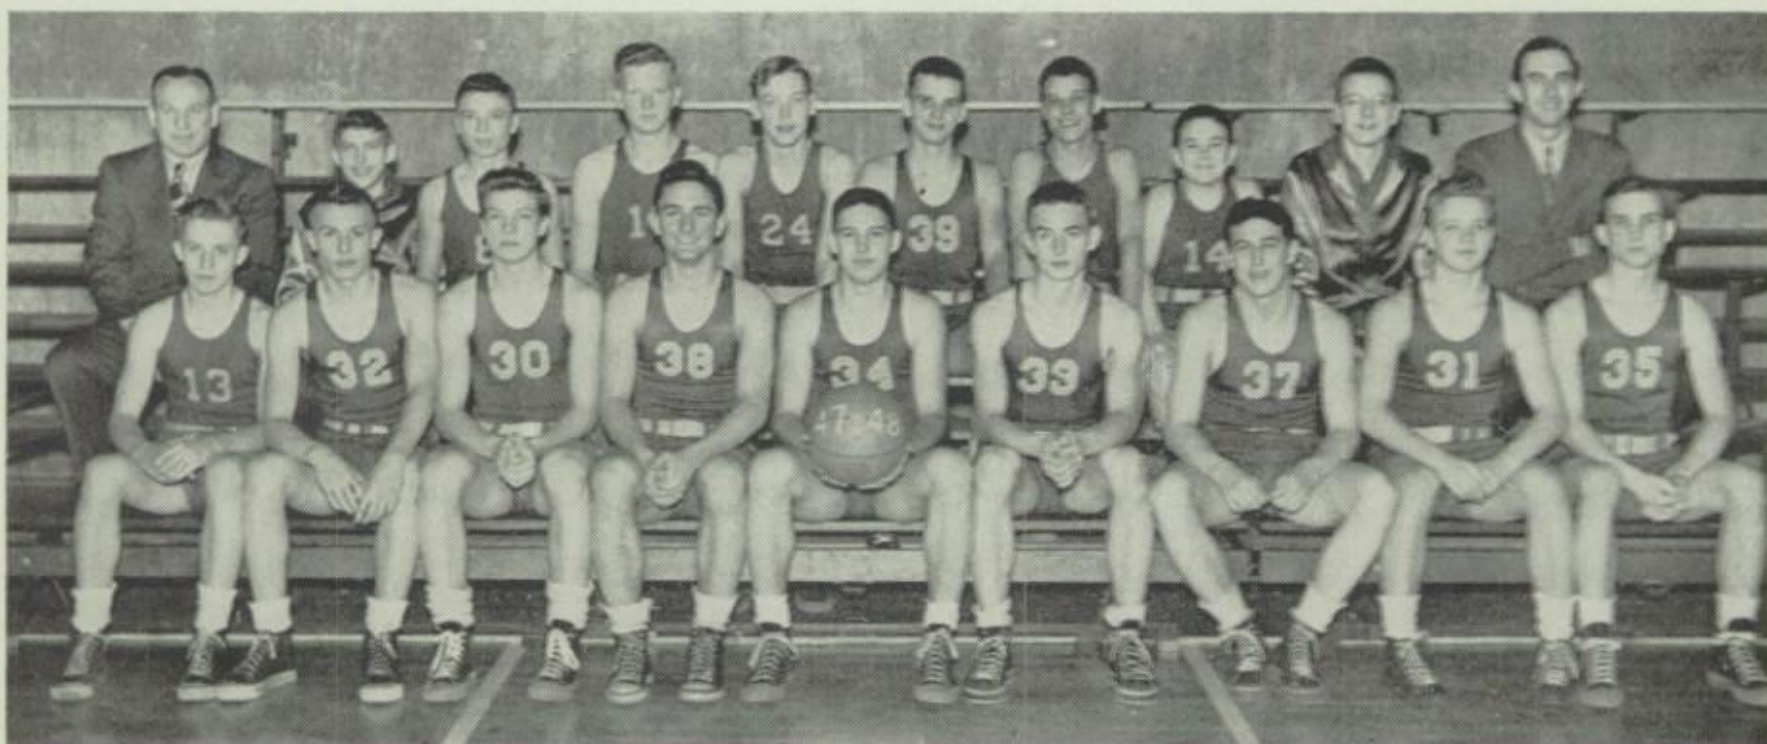

ROCK ISLAND 58; REYNOLDS 29

The first regional tournament game caused nary a drop of sweat for the regulars, who racked up a 19-2 lead and then enjoyed proceedings from the sidelines. Even after the first-string five had been yanked, Coach Wagner's charges kept the score mounting the second time Rock Island hit the 58-point mark. Ralph Iglehart, junior forward, got 12 points while Howie Peck meshed 10.

ROCK ISLAND 42; MOLINE 48

The second tournament whirl was one too many for the luckless Islanders, who rallied from a 16-4 deficit but couldn't quite keep the curtain from falling on the 1947-1948 cage stage. Dave Lund was at his best, flicking the scoreboard lights 15 times to tie Don Atkins for point laurels, but the Maroon machine thundered on to the state tournament, preserving a last-minute 47-40 margin. Taber, Atkins, Lund, Slater, and Peck closed their Crimson cage careers.

Watch the state basketball tournament in the next several years because that's where the 1947-1948 sophomore cagers have their sights set. The Pebbles, who rolled up 14 wins in 19 starts, hope to keep rolling as varsity members until they gain a berth in the select "sweet sixteen" at Champaign. They warmed up to the task this year by losing only five games, including a pair of one-point losses and a two-point setback, besides furnishing two members for the varsity squad midway in the season.

Coaches Lyle Jones and Harold V. Almquist may well take a bow for producing this yearling combination, which lost only to John Deere, 32-31, Davenport, 36-35 and 62-32, East Moline, 29-27, and Monmouth, 34-27. All but the pair of one-point reversals came after Center Joe Collier and Guard Kenny Melow had moved on to varsity berths.

Before losing two tilts in succession by one tally, the Pebbles had raced to seven straight wins with Dick Thomas and Mike Corken at the forwards, Joe Collier at center, and Kenny Melow and Russell Burwell at the guard slots.

Collier hit for 19 points his first time out and was a consistent scorer. Melow moved on to a varsity spot soon after depositing 17 points in the Calvin Coolidge game, climaxing a performance of steady rebounding and floor-game talent.

Forwards Dick Thomas and Mike Corken worked together like pieces of a jigsaw puzzle, Thomas doing most of the scoring while Corken handled much of the rebounding. Thomas swished 20 points in his last game finishing as the team's top scorer.

Russell Burwell held down the other guard slot all season, often serving as field general of the offense besides connecting on long pokes. Jim Engman stepped into Melow's vacated slot at the opposite guard position.

Jack Shoemaker and Maurie Van Speybroeck shared Collier's former pivot job, while Kent Nelson saw consistent action at forward.

The Pebbles piled up their highest score in the finale, trouncing East Moline 51-33, while Davenport's 62-32 win was by far the worst Pebble defeat.

Wrestling

Row 2: Richard Brems, George Hedstrom, Rudy Kolinehinsky, Kenneth Mills, Bill Williams, Bob Tornquist, Jack Suman, Bill

Wakeland, Fred Frankville, Lee Riffel, Don Carnes, Don Wallace, Manager Jerry Pahl, and Coach Kenneth E. Greene.

Row 3: Bob Newbern, Tom Holst, Bob Coulson, Bob Lothridge, John Tait, David Lomen, Meredith Ostrom, Rick Miller, Bob Wenger, Tom Blumenthal, Frank Witt, and Frank Rennisen.

Coach Kenneth E. Greene's grapplers had their state championship lifted by Champaign's matmen last March, but the Rocks posted a regular-season record that somewhat atoned for the loss of Illinois prep wrestling's most prized trophy. The Islanders rolled up a dual-meet record of eight wins, one tie, and four set-backs, winning the sectional championship. Two of the four losses were to powerful Davenport and one each to Illinois powers New Trier and Blue Island.

The grunt-and-groan artists racked up successes over Moline and Clinton twice, mastering Kewanee, Proviso, Pekin, and Muscatine once each, besides being held to a 17-17 tie at Joliet. A 40-3 decision over the newly-formed Muscatine team was the most lopsided advantage recorded by the Islanders.

Coach Greene was greeted again this year by the always present handicaps of graduation and injuries, losing three defending state champs along the line. Missing for the tourneys were Jerome Dasso, Jake Evans, and Eugene Monroe, but the Rocks managed to qualify all but a heavyweight grappler from their own sectional meet, sending nine candidates to Champaign, a like number returning from the rugged field without scoring a point. Ed Garrett was the lone Crimson representative to survive first-round eliminations, only to drop out in the second whirl.

Don Suess, 165-pounder, posted the finest individual Islander record, going through the regular season undefeated in his weight class to lose at the state meet for the first time. Eugene Monroe, who grappled until the tourneys, absorbed only two losses in the 105-pound division.

Other regulars who consistently brought home the points were Ed Garrett, Ernie Lamb, Orville Lamb, Chuck VanZandbergen, Bill Harbarger, Fred Frankville, Ken Suess, Manford Rowe, Lee Riffel, and Chuck Porter. Garrett, Ernie Lamb, and Don Suess were most feared by rivals, but this trio is graduating this year.

Among next year's returnees are Orville Lamb, Chuck VanZandbergen, Ken Suess, and Chuck Porter.

Row 2: Michael Hance, Richard Enburg, Otto Kurtz, Don Price, Don Ballinger, Dan Flanigan, Bernard Rice, Bernard Verschoore, Joe Collier, Dick Romine, and Coach W. L. Kimmel.

Walter L. Kimmel, dean of Quad-City track coaches, has acquired the reputation of perennially producing potent track teams in his position as head cinđer mentor at Rock Island high school, and the 1948 season was no exception. Although riddled by graduation, the tracksters inked in another winning record, jumping off on the right foot in the opener by sliding past strong Dubuque, and continuing down through the Blackhawk district meet and Quad-City conference match that wound up the season.

Working with assistant coaches Howard M. Lundeen and Herbert L. Wagner, Coach Kimmel escorted his tracksters outdoors for the first time late in March and proceeded to enjoy good weather for team-moulding all through the season. The field events were big headaches at the beginning, but this able coaching staff uncovered talent toward a well-balanced contingent by the season's close.

Dave Lund was the big gun in point production, tallying in the high and low hurdles, dashes, and broad jump, but from there on the points managed to keep well-distributed. Tom Slater and Tom Swanson were consistent first-place winners in the broad jump and high jump, Slater also recording points in the dashes and weight divisions.

Don Ballinger and Don Price helped Lund dominate the hurdle events, Ballinger also earning consistent points in the high jump along with Jack Scott. Scott, Hartley Clark, and sophomore Don Manhard handled the pole vaulting, Manhard switching from yearling competition to post several varsity first places.

Dashmen were Don Lutz, Bob Hendrickson, Dan Flanigan, Lund, and Slater, with Mike Carr joining Lutz and Hendrickson in the 440-yard dash. Carr, Dan Terrill, and sophomore Jim Engman scored in the half-mile run, while the longer distances were in possession of Vern Mack, Al Brelsford, Engman, and Chuck Randolph. Len Washburn, Frank Edwards, Ray Ohrstrom, and sophomore Joe Collier were the big weightmen, Washburn developing as the most powerful of the quartet in both the shot put and discus events.

Row 2: Don Price, Don Swensson, Ralph Iglehart, Guy Hartnett, and Robert Kowert.

Although tennis is greatly overshadowed by track and baseball on the spring sports calendar, taking a backseat to football in the fall, it provides much active entertainment for both boys and girls at Rocky High.

Completing the fall slate with five wins and three losses, the boys advanced into the spring season with a show of steady improvement.

Captain Jack Coke, second-place winner in Quad-City competition, led the following five regulars in their net campaign: Leon Sabath, Ben Hunter, Bob Kowert, Don Swensson, and Ralph Iglehart.

The girls' tennis squad, which has had Marie Greve as No. 1 player for the last two years, has shown plenty of fighting spirit and good sportsmanship. Among those who saw action are: Sally Pleasants, Arlene Shrader, Evelyn Stahl, Dorothy Risley, Joan Deyo, Carolyn Becker, Joanne Coffield, and Anna Berry.

The boys are coached by D. Gerald Finch, while the girls are under the direction of Martha Miller.

The golf team worked hard all season under Coach James R. Clark, who tutors their link activities. With practice opening early in April, about 18 golfers worked out at Saukie in order to improve their fall record of two wins and three losses.

The chief contenders for top positions were four seniors who have engaged in the sport for three years at Rocky High. They are Bill Miller, Leo Lundberg, Pryce Keagle, and Don Boquist.

Cross Country

Row 2: Maurice Bukshpan, Wallace Zeitler, Bill Williams, Clyde Sydnor, Ted Morrison, LaVerne Hoon, and Ervin Bales.

Bringing home the laurels once again, the cross-country team upheld the high standards set and maintained by the teams of years gone by. This team, like the others, was under the watchful eye and helpful hand of Coach Kenneth E. Greene.

Cross-country, which was promoted to the status of a major sport last year, serves double duty, as a sport in itself and as a resistance-building agent for spring track distance men.

Losing his main punch, Chuck Stauduhar, through the process of graduation, Coach Greene found winning form in the following seven boys: Chuck Randolph, Jim Engman, Vernon Mack, Frank Amato, Ron Rietz, and Al Brelsford.

The Rocks finished regular-season competition undefeated, winning the Quad-City and Northwest conference titles, also annexing fifth at the state tournament.

An abundance of veterans plus promising new talent caused the Islanders baseball team to be labeled for a fine season during pre-season forecasts, and as the season unfolded the crystal-ball gazing proved correct. Coach Carl (Boats) Aronson, assisted by Lyle Jones, helped make the third year of baseball since the turn of the century a productive one.

The diamond slate opened against St. Joseph's academy following a fortunate stretch of warm spring weather that enabled the Rocks to get in condition for the regular-season grind of 16 games. Next in line marched East Moline, St. Ambrose, Davenport, doubleheaders with Kewanee and Galesburg, a single game with Moline, and the district tournament, followed by a repeat cycle around the circuit.

The infield was the Islander pride-and-joy this year, both defensively and at the plate. Coach Aronson was blessed with all but a first baseman from last year's team for an experienced combination, and the veterans responded with fielding gems in every game. Kingpin of the infield was the second-shortstop combination of Warren Hancks and Billy Walker, but no corner of the diamond was lacking in luster.

Walker and Hancks more than once bewildered their foes with snappy double plays from around second base, but next door to second was another Islander star, Eddie Taber. His deadly throws from third base added to his timely hitting attracted attention all season.

Batting in the clean-up No. 4 spot was versatile Carl Hodson, who usually was found behind the plate, catching. Hodson's accurate throwing discouraged base-stealing, and he proved to be the most powerful hitter on the Rock roster. Ralph Iglehart, steady all-round performer, held down the first base job most of the time.

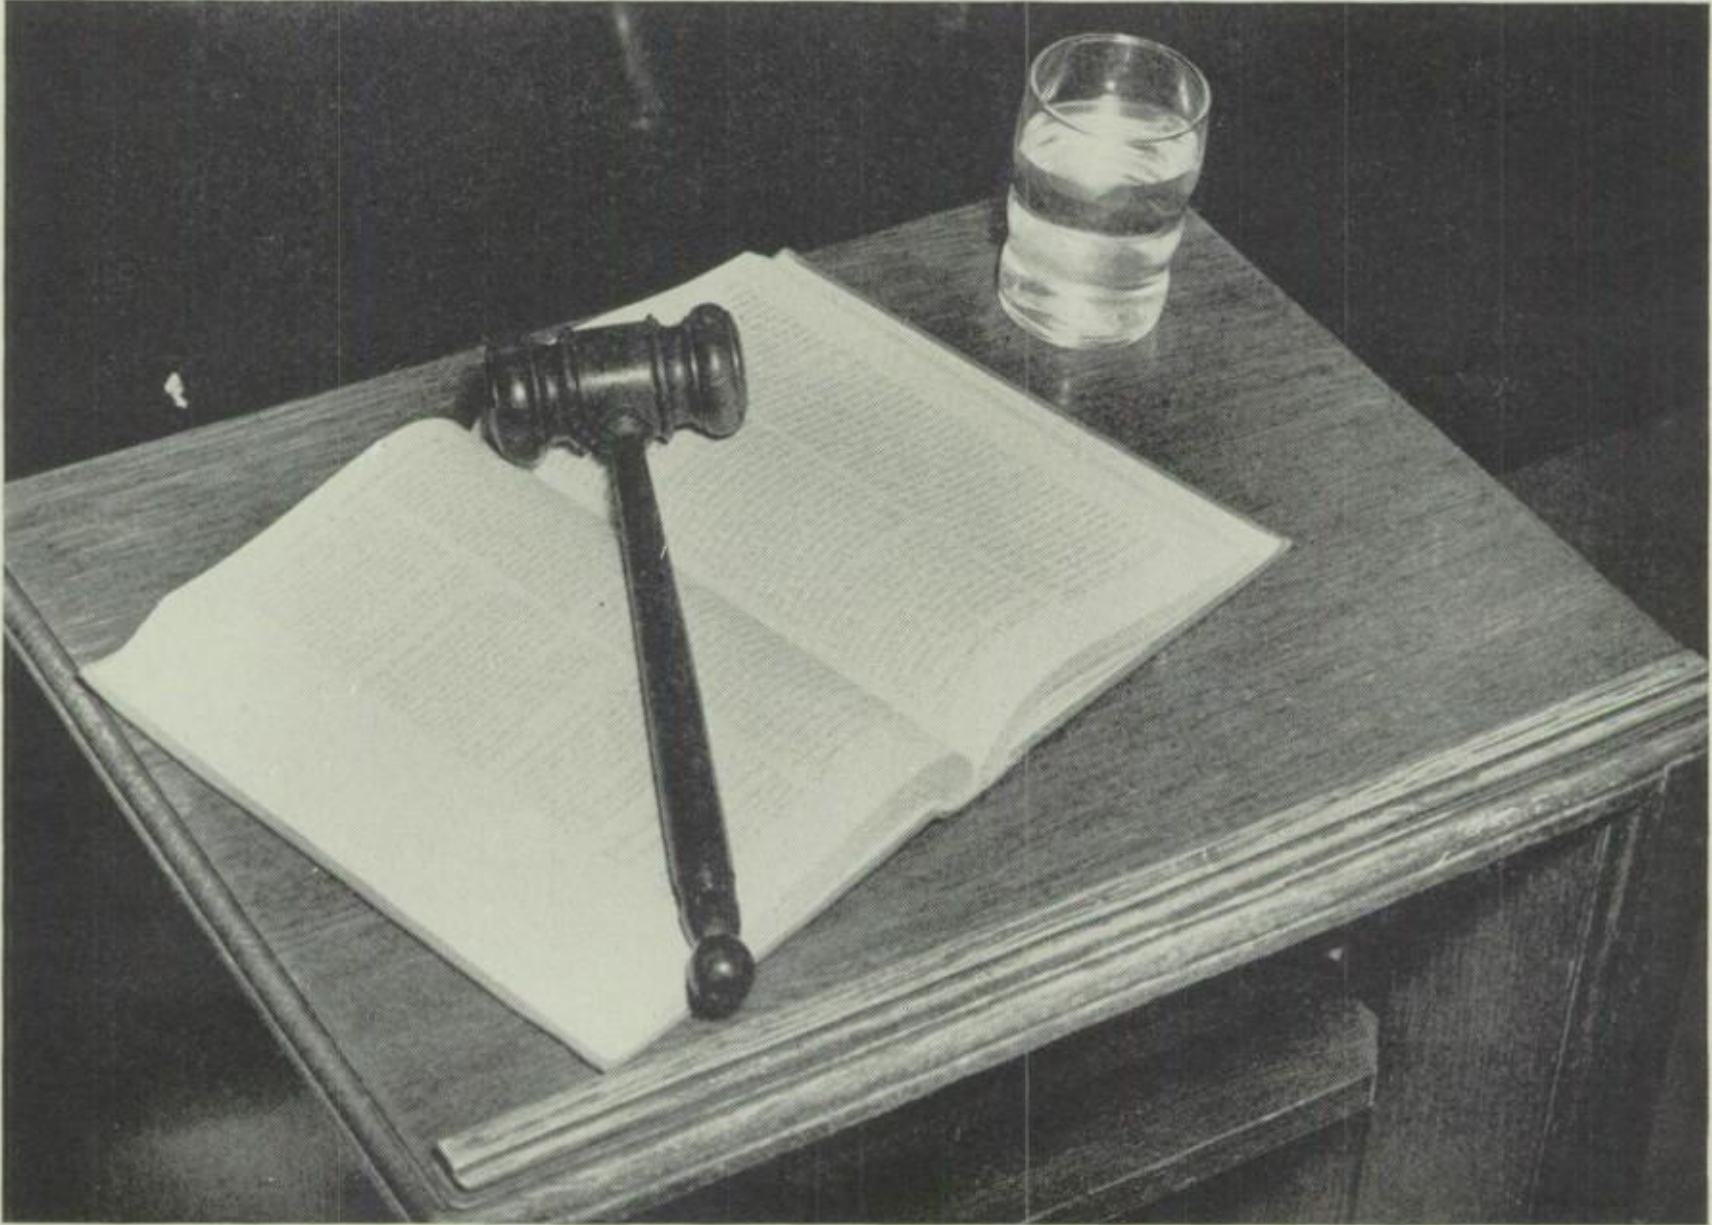

Talented Tom Swanson paced the three-man mound staff, composed of Mike Carr and Mike Corken besides Swanson, whose sterling strike-out record made it easier for outfielders Leon Helms, Ron Claussen, Jim Smirles, and Don VanZandbergen to concentrate on hitting.

Camera Club

Benjamin Hunter, John Searle, Leon Sabath, Helen Teros

With the war three years behind us and with business and production back to normalcy, making possible the purchase of new equipment, expanded activity was the word of the year for the Camera club.

This year's officers were John C. Searle, president; Benjamin Hunter and Helen Teros, vice-presidents; and Leon Sabath, secretary.

New equipment purchased with funds obtained from the sale of refreshments at all home basketball games made it possible for the Camera club to expand to the extent where the activities of the club now equal those of many of the semi-professional clubs in the Quad-Cities. This year the Camera club started working with color emulsions and much progress was achieved.

Among the high lights of this year's club meetings were the monthly salons, or picture exhibits, conducted in room 303 during the regular after-school meeting time. Awards were given for the first three places and the winning pictures were then saved to be entered in the final salon held at the end of the school year.

Connection was made this year with other camera clubs in the Quad-Cities and in March the Rocky shutter men entered prints in an exhibit sponsored by the Tri-City Cinema club held in the Illinois-Iowa Gas and Electric building in downtown Rock Island. An exhibit was also placed in the Rock Island Bank and Trust building during American Education week and much favorable comment was heard by the Camera club.

An attempt was made this year to have planned demonstrations concerning the various phases of photography as part of the regular biweekly meetings. In previous years, due largely to the lack of the required equipment, variety in the photographic field was impossible, but now that the Camera club has expanded, it is possible for members of the club to do work in portraiture, salon photography, copying, photomicrography, as well as to practice many other modern types of photo technique.

To promote dramatics and their appreciation at Rock Island high school is the purpose of the Dramatic club.

This club, which is under the sponsorship of E. Dorothy Peterson and Carolu Schutz, is a most popular organization at Rocky High. The year of 1947-1948 proved to be a highly successful one with the membership close to two hundred.

There are a few qualifications to be met by any student who wishes to become a member. Each student wanting admission to the club must be a junior or senior and sign up for the Dramatic club as he does for other clubs in high school. When a decision is to be made about a prospective member, those studying some form of speech are given preference over those who are not.

The regular club meetings are held on one Wednesday of each month. These meetings are generally held in the Little Theater. Programs usually consist of one-act plays or skits prepared by members of the club. In this way the club offers varied forms of entertainment.

Two special parties are the big features of the club's calendar for the school year. The annual Christmas party is the first big event. This party is held before school is dismissed for Christmas vacation. The program is always one to put all the members in the Christmas spirit.

The second important event of the year is the theater party which makes up the last meeting of the school year. It is held when a good movie is showing. The members of the club attend the theater in a group. The club members are always given an after-theater treat.

The Dramatic club officers for the year 1947-1948 were: president, Richard Rodgers; vice-president, Raymond Ohrstrom; secretary, Barbara Knope; and treasurer, Corinne MacNeill.

Girls' Athletic Association

Sue McCabe, Janet Stone, Edith McDougall

The G.A.A. began the year with an organization meeting in October. Attendance at this meeting was even larger than that of last year's, which was almost doubled over the previous year. Outdoor volleyball was played.

Several G.A.A. members participated in the G.A.A. Playday held at East Moline high school Nov. 1, 1947. Girls from many neighboring schools took part in that project.

A treasure hunt high-lighted the November meeting. This event proved exciting and helped the girls become acquainted.

At Christmas a Latin-American dance was given by two sophomore girls and gifts were exchanged. This year the G.A.A. treasury purchased a Christmas tree and trimmings.

Novelty in their meetings makes G.A.A. members look forward eagerly to the third Tuesday of every month. In January a birthday party was the main attraction. Everyone celebrated her birthday and enjoyed the usual refreshments of a birthday party.

Meetings this year were planned by a committee of members who volunteered to help. This way all the members had a chance to have their ideas for meetings discussed. Moreover, the girls conducted the meetings themselves and they all had a share in the club.

In March the girls had an Easter egg hunt and played several games. The weather began to improve and by April the athletic girls were outside playing softball and deck volley.

The G.A.A. ended a successful year by electing new officers in May at a farewell meeting.

Serving as officers for this year were: Sue McCabe, president; Janet Stone, secretary; and Edith McDougall, treasurer.

The French club this year was larger than last year's club, with both a first and second-year class.

Evelyn Stahl was elected president of the club, with Joan Mangelsdorf as vice-president, Sue Hauerwas as secretary, and Mary Bennett as treasurer. The meetings were held every other Wednesday during class time.

The club's main project was supporting an orphan in France. The funds for this project were taken from the club treasury and candy sale profits.

Malvina M. Caloine sponsored the club.

The Senior Service Scouts, an advanced division of the Girl Scouts, have four sub-organizations: the Mariners, the Junior Nurses' Aides, the Radio Scouts, and the Wing Scouts. Their motto is "A good deed every day."

The Mariners study lifesaving and sailing and in this manner earn their Mariner rating.

The Junior Nurses' Aides assist the nurses at St. Anthony's hospital. This training helps many girls interested in entering the nursing profession.

The Radio Scouts were added to the club this year and have proved very successful. They made several trips to the local radio stations to study radio techniques.

The Wing Scouts, also a new group, have held most of their meetings at the Moline airport. They study a course similar to a beginning pilot's.

All four groups will be continued next year.

Standing on a platform of clean speech, clean sportsmanship, and clean scholarship, the Boys' Hi-Y endeavors to create, maintain, and spread throughout the school and community a high standard of Christian character.

The club meets every other Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A. Its co-sponsors are Ben L. Tallman and John M. Huckins.

The meetings consist of a short business meeting and a program. This year movies and various lectures were featured.

Special events during the year included a trip to the University of Iowa for a football game, participation in the Mississippi Valley sports program, and sending Donald Horton as a delegate to the state Hi-Y leaders' conference at Chicago. This summer a junior or sophomore representative will be sent to a boys' leader-training conference.

This year's president was Donald Horton. Other officers were Howard Peck, vice-president; Robert Long, secretary; Hartley Clark, chaplain; and William Nesseler, sergeant at arms.

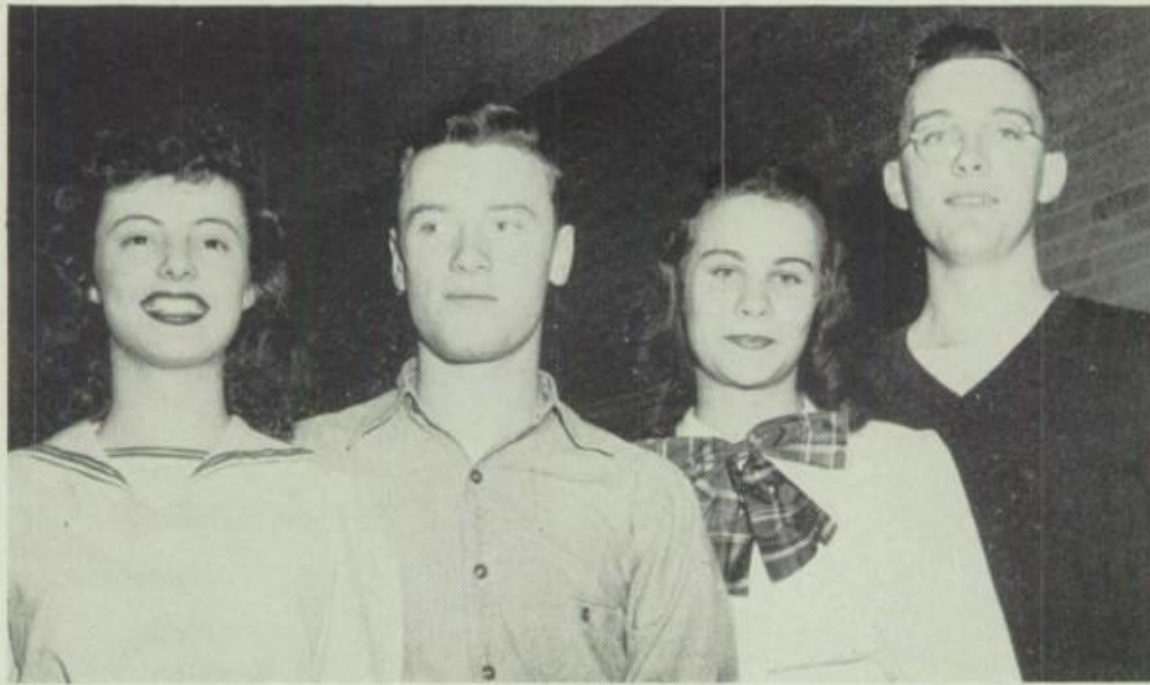

Club members operated the coat check room at the student canteen on Saturday nights.

The club's only affiliation is with the Y.M.C.A.

Pan-American League

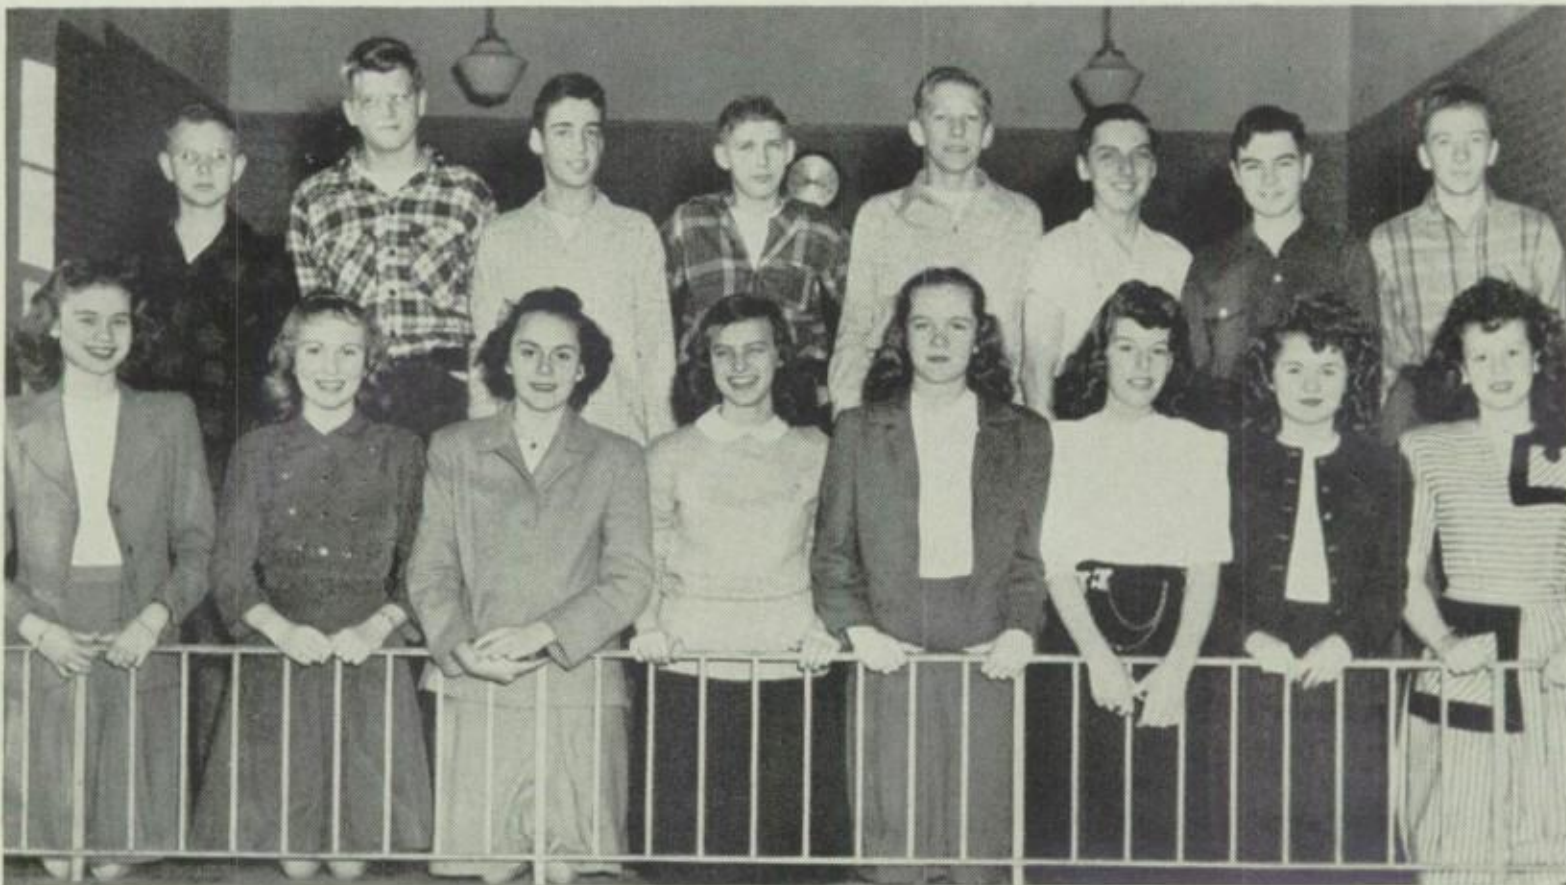

Mary Bennett, Frank Edward, Ruth Ann Clanton, Alfred Balk

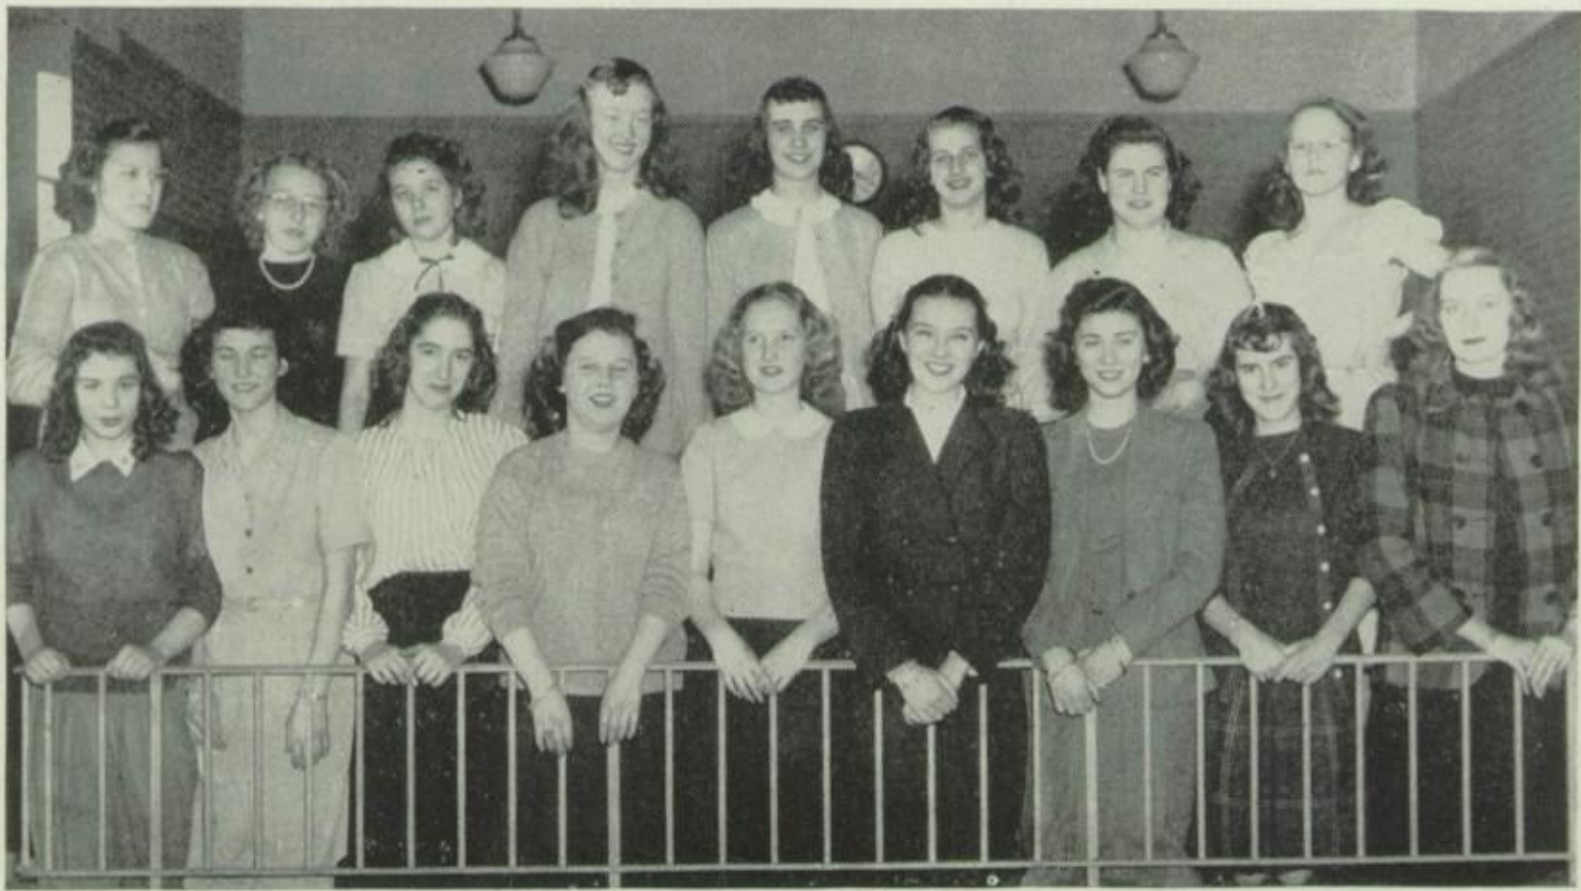

The Pan-American league, under the sponsorship of Malvina M. Caloine, director of Pan-American leagues in the state of Illinois, is working to promote good will between countries of the western hemisphere. The league is a representative of the twenty-one nations of the western hemisphere.

League membership is not limited to Spanish students but is open to all Rocky High students interested in the ideals of the league and anxious to further good relations with other western countries.

The league meets the third Thursday of every month. Cultural, educational, and social programs are presented and refreshments are served after each meeting.

The league tries to arrange programs that will create a better understanding of Latin-American neighbors and give an idea of their life and problems.

The annual Christmas party was one of the big events of the year for the Pan-American leaguers. The members sang songs and played games in true Mexican fashion. They even made pinatas, which were broken open to reveal gifts and sweets.

Pan-American day, held each year on April 14, is celebrated all over the country, as well as by all the other nations of the western hemisphere. Each year the Pan-American groups of the Quad-Cities hold a banquet on that date as a part of the celebration. It is held at one of the big hotels in Rock Island, Davenport, or Moline. This year, with Moline in charge, the banquet was held in the Sky-Hiroom at the LeClaire hotel. Rocky High art classes made the programs.

The league banquet is open to high school students, college students, and adults. Any student interested in the Pan-American movement may attend, even though he is not studying Spanish.

League officers this year were: president, Ruth Ann Clanton; vice-president, Alfred Balk; secretary, Mary Bennett; and treasurer, Frank Edwards.

Spanish Club

Row 1: Elaine Drobner, Alfred Balk, Ellen Zahringer. Row 2: Edith McDougall, Frank Edwards.

To help Spanish students understand and learn more about our southern neighbors, the Pan-American countries, is the object of the Spanish club of Rock Island high school. Membership is limited to Spanish students. Malvina M. Caloine and John W. Blomberg sponsor the club.

The chairman of the class, who takes charge of the meetings, is elected by the students at the beginning of the year.

The chairmen for this year in Miss Caloine's classes were: fourth period, Alfred Balk; seventh and eighth periods, Frank Edwards; ninth period, Nancy Louden; and eleventh period, Elaine Drobner. The chairmen in Mr. Blomberg's room were: tenth period, Edith McDougall; and eleventh period, Ellen Zahringer.

A cultural meeting is held once a month and the entire period is devoted to learning something of the lands to the south of us. Each member brings some information about the Pan-American countries which he thinks will be of interest to the rest of the class. This information can come from the student's own experience, from something he has read, from a movie, or from a radio program. Some of the students have friends or relatives living in the Pan-American countries and they receive first-hand information. Miss Caloine, Mr. Blomberg, and some of the students have visited Mexico and give inside views of the country. Often Mexican newspapers and magazines are read during the meetings. Miss Caloine receives magazines and newspapers from Mexico and during the club meetings the students are given a chance to see them. They have a good time trying to read them. The comic strips are the favorites in both the magazines and the newspapers.

A social meeting is held once during the month and Spanish songs and games prevail. The Spanish songs that are sung are accompanied by the piano or by records.

At some of the social meetings, refreshments are served. Some of the students bring their own refreshments and other classes donate money and buy their refreshments. The clubs were fortunate this year in being able to study different Mexican fruits. They were given a chance to taste the fruits and many different opinions were formed about them.

The students learn much about the Pan-American countries, especially during the Christmas season. The main event of the year is the Christmas or "Pinata" party. At this party Mexican games are played and Christmas carols are sung in Spanish. The breaking of the pinata is the main event. One or two students in each class make a pinata, which is a gaily decorated paper bag. This is filled with candy and presents and then hung in the air. One person is blindfolded and given a stick while the others form a circle around the pinata. The person with the stick hits at the pinata and tries to break it. When he succeeds, everyone grabs for the candy and presents. There is a general tumult, after which everyone, if he is able to move, enjoys the returns of his endeavors. Refreshments are served and presents exchanged and a good time is had by all.

During the Christmas season the rooms are decorated and the pinatas are suspended from a rope which goes across the room. The students spend one day studying and observing the religious portion of the Mexican Christmas and one day is spent learning about the social activities.

The flags of the Pan-American countries are studied and the members of the club learn to identify the different flags.

The members of the Spanish club learn much of the history and geography of the southern countries while they learn the language.

Lots of fun, hard work, and refreshments were what the girls in Hi-Y Teens had this year.

The Hi-Y Teens, sailing along under their new name, enjoyed many interesting activities and events. This is the second year this club has held its present name. This division of the Y.W.C.A. was formerly known as the Girl Reserves. The name was changed last year, however, because the members felt Hi-Y Teens better fitted their organization.

A Little-Sister potluck supper held at the Y. W. C. A. at the beginning of the year served as a get-acquainted gathering. The initiation meeting proved to be fun for both old and new members.

Another meeting featured a talk on tolerance by Rabbi Oscar Fleishaker. A cosmetic demonstration given by a representative from a local drug company was of great interest to the girls. Movies and skits given by the members also provided entertainment.

The Hi-Y Teens held Lenten services at school in the morning during Holy Week. The last meeting of the year was a farewell party to the seniors.

It wasn't all fun, however; there was work to do too. The Hi-Y Teens were in charge of the concession stands during the football games. They sent Beverly Lundberg to represent them at the summer planning conference held near Chicago. The girls also sold forget-me-nots for the veterans of the first World War. As a money-making project the Hi-Y Teens sponsored a bake sale and a candy sale. The money was used for promoting world fellowship.

The object of the club is to promote friendship and develop Christian girlhood. Each girl uses this code as her guide to help the club achieve its goal.

As a
Girl Reserve
I will try to be
Gracious in manner
Impartial in judgment
Ready for service
Loyal to friends
Reaching toward the best
Earnest in purpose
Seeing the beautiful
Eager for knowledge
Reverent to God
Victorious over self
Ever dependable
Sincere at all times

The Radio club is composed of students who are interested in learning the essentials of radio broadcasting. At Radio club meetings instructions are given about all different branches of broadcasting, and records are made on the club recorder.

This year's chairman was Nola Bradley. The faculty sponsor is P. J. Martin.

Anyone who has fairly good grades is eligible for membership in the Radio club.

Completing its second year as a member of the Future Home-Makers of America, the Home Economics club is encouraging an interest in homemaking among the girls at school.

Marilyn Huyett was president the latter part of the year; June Goodwin, vice-president; and Gloria Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

The club sponsored a mother-daughter tea, a Christmas dinner party, and a style show.

CYC and Canteen Committees

Row 2: Lloyd Widerstrom, Jerald Hart, David Lund, George Kieffer.

The Civic Youth Center this year was sponsored by the PTA council and was governed by a committee of high school students. The chairman of the sponsoring committee was Mrs. George C. Keiffer and Jack Eggspuehler was elected committee chairman.

The CYC sponsored a Snow Ball held at the Masonic Temple Dec. 22 during Christmas vacation. Music was furnished by Louis Black and his orchestra.

The Student Canteen at the Y.M.C.A.

was open every Saturday night. Ben L. Tallman, Boys' Work secretary at the Y.M.C.A. was the sponsor and Barry Smiley was general chairman.

Special dances were held during the year at the Canteen. The most unusual was the "Sock-Hop" held Jan. 24. Students checked their shoes at the door and danced in their stocking feet. Prizes were given to the students with the most original socks.

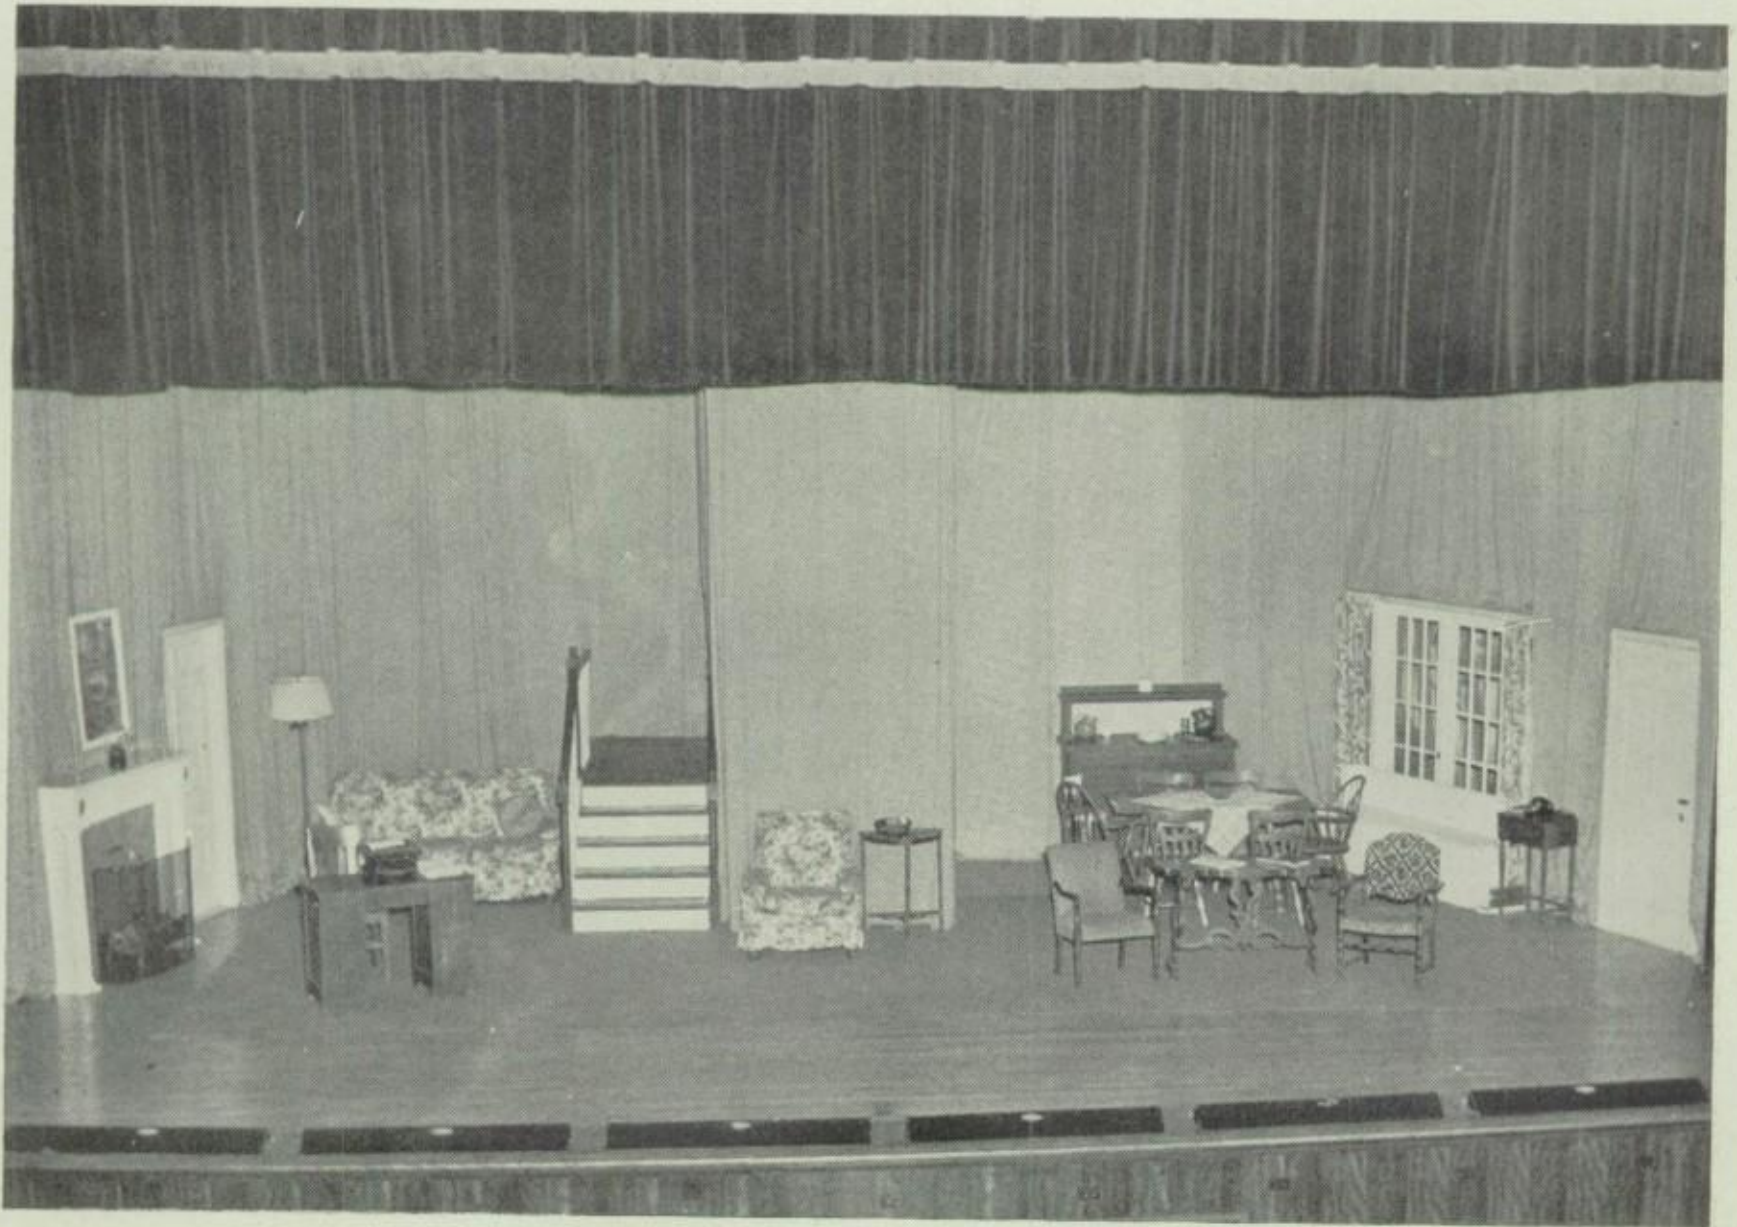

This was the Canteen's eighth year.

Drama and Speech

Dramatic Club Play

On Nov. 21, "A Great American Family" was given by the Dramatic club as its annual presentation.

The scene was laid in a small village near Pasadena, Calif., where Gregory Seymour, a struggling young author portrayed by Richard Rodgers, lived with his understanding wife, enacted by Ruth Ann Clanton, and their mischievous children, played by Benjamin Hunter, Joseph Robinson, Larry Bennett, Paul Chuse, and Sandra Pahl in childhood; and Howard Peck, Robert Long, Bruce Bartley, and Peter Lousberg in teen age.

Because of continual interruptions due to strained financial conditions, Mr. Seymour found it difficult to accomplish his goal, to write the great American novel. Not until he wrote about the life of his family did he achieve success and, at the same time, fulfill his desire.

Others adding to the comedy of the play were: Virginia Polzin and Mary Bennett as the girl friends whose perfumes proved disarming to one of the Seymour boys, Barbara Knope as the patient but insistent book agent, and William Powers in the part of the book publisher.

Also appearing in the cast were: Corinne MacNeill as the W. C. T. U. enthusiast, and Richard Fisher as her pampered son; John C. Searle, the persuasive real-estate agent; and Virginia Balk as the helpful baby sitter.

The play was under the direction of E. Dorothy Peterson.

Senior Class Play

Richard Rodgers, Joe Guzzo, Larry Bennett, Mary Bennett, Jack Eggspuehler, Evelyn Stahl, Ruth Ann Clanton, Leon Sabath, Barbara Knope, Hartley Clark.

This year on April 30 and May 1 the senior class presented "All My Sons," a dramatic play by Arthur Miller. The play was the first serious production put on by a senior class of Rock Island high school in five years. It was directed by E. Dorothy Peterson, head of dramatics.

The story deals with life in the postwar era and reveals man's responsibility to all men. The plot centers around the Keller family. Joe Keller, portrayed by Leon Sabath, is an owner of a factory involved in the shipment of faulty war material. His wife, Kate Keller, was capably presented by Ruth Ann Clanton.

The returned veteran was seen through the vivid performance of Jack Eggspuehler as Chris Keller. Evelyn Stahl was featured as Chris' sweetheart, Ann Deever. The climax was reached when George Deever, played by Richard Rodgers, came to take his sister home.

Color was added by the appearances of the neighbors, Dr. Jim and Sue Bayliss, presented by Hartley Clark and Barbara Knope. Frank and Lydia Lubey, a young married couple, were played by Joe Guzzo and Mary Bennett. Larry Bennett, a grade school student, portrayed Bert.

Nancy Engman was student director.

Speech Class Plays

Row 2: Marjorie Johnson, Darlene Syria, Lois Swingle, Benjamin Hunter, Hartley Clark.

When Johnny Clover, editor of the school paper, and Spud Erwin, his best friend, fall for the same girl, quarrel with each other, catch the measles, get in trouble with the local cops, and finally come out all right with the right girl catching the right boy, it makes for a laugh-provoking comedy. This was the plot for the first of three one-act plays given by the Speech II classes. These plays, which were directed by E. Dorothy Peterson, speech teacher at Rocky High, were presented Thursday night, Jan. 22.

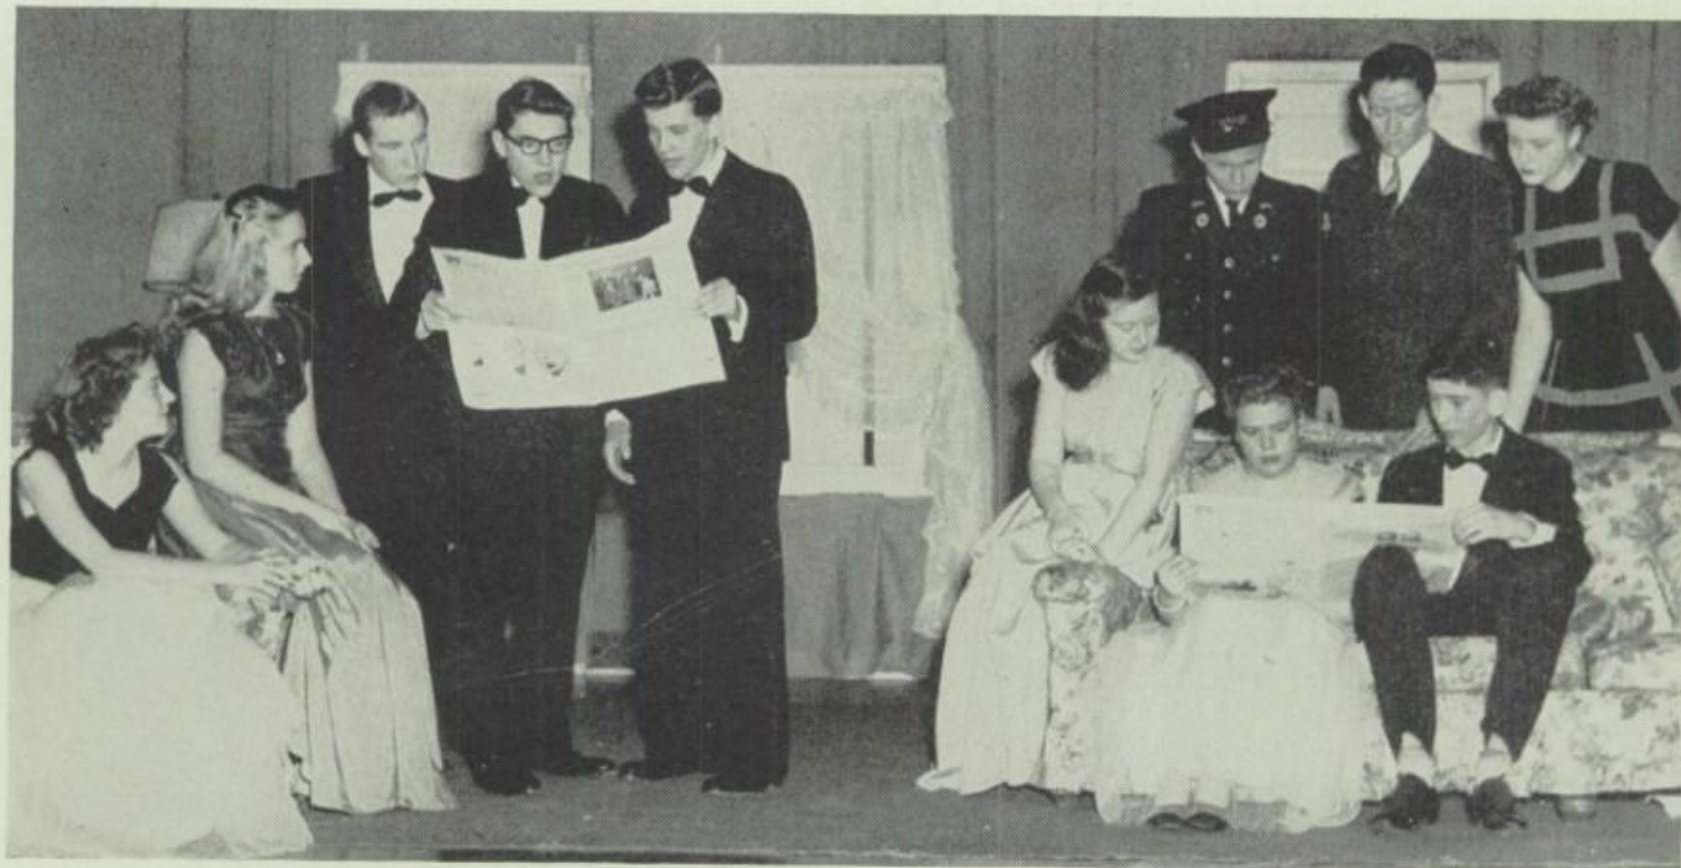

The cast of the first play, "Ever Since Eve," included Peter Lousberg and Burbank de Silva as Johnny and Spud. Their relatives and friends were played by Lois Laws, Virginia Balk, Robert Box, Gloria Prosser, Howard Barkley, Enid Hooe, Betty Nixon, Richard Enburg, and Dean Miller. The play was written by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clement.

If one had a little man running around one's house in red underwear who was invisible to everyone but oneself, and if this little man interfered in one's affairs and got one into hot water, what would one do? This is the problem faced by Willoughby Adams in the second comedy, "The Inner Willy," written by Bettye Knapp. But Willy conquers his alter ego and finally gets his girl. Willy was played by Donald Ballinger, and his inner self by Benjamin Hunter. The rest of the cast included Lois Swingle, Marjorie Johnson, and Patricia Stechalin as his three doting aunts; and Hartley Clark, Jack Campbell, Elaine Katz, Elna Young, Erna Benson, and Mary Ann Mullen as his friends.

The third play, "Ladies of the Mop," by Aurand Harris, is the story in rhyme of four talented artists who somehow missed their calling and became scrubwomen. After hours they perform on the deserted stage of the theater they were hired to clean. Annie, Mattie, Hallie and Bessie, the four scrubwomen, were played by Mildred Faucett, Zoe Hanna, Edith McDougall, and Barbara Gillespie.

Shirley Ann Baker played the organ during intermissions and before and after the performance.

Enid Hooe, Gloria Prosser, Howard Barkley, Peter Lousberg, Burbank de Silva, Lois Laws, Richard Enburg, Betty Nixon, Robert Box, Dean Miller, Virginia Balk.

Edith McDougall, Mildred Faucett, Barbara Gillespie, Zoe Hanna.

Junior Class Play

Donald Ballinger, Erna Benson, Patricia Parrish, Jo Ann Holloway, Elna Young, Norma Sipes, Jo Ann Fitzsimmons, Benjamin Hunter, Patricia Nelson, Mary Smith, Janice Burt, Elaine Katz, Peter Lousberg, Robert G. Long, Lois Swingle, James Hollars, Sally Greenberg, Enid Hooe, Jack Parker.

"The Charm School," a comedy by Robert Milton and Alice Duer Miller, was presented April 9 by the junior class.

The story centers around the trials of young Austin Bevans (Robert G. Long) when he tries to turn a girls' school he inherits into a charm school. Elise Benedotti (Enid Hooe), senior class president at the school, falls in love with Austin and he tries to resist her but in vain.

Adding to the amusement are Miss Hays, head of the school (Sally Greenberg); Homer Johns, wealthy banker and guardian of Elise (Jack Parker); Miss Curtis, the well-meaning but flighty secretary (Lois Swingle); David MacKenzie, a law student (James Hollars); George Boyd, an expert accountant (Peter Lousberg); Jim and Tim Simpkins (Benjamin Hunter and Donald Ballinger), who were continually chasing Sally Boyd (Norma Sipes), George Boyd's sister.

The girls of the senior class are Muriel Doughty (Janice Burt), Ethel Spelvin (Patricia Parrish), Alex Mercier (Elaine Katz), Madge Kent (Mary Smith), Lillian Stafford (Jo Ann Fitzsimmons), Dianne (Jo Ann Holloway), Kathy (Erna Benson), Charlotte (Patricia Nelson), and Dotsie, a junior (Elna Young).

The play was directed by Ruth L. Hanson, instructor in speech. Zoe Hanna was the student director.

Declamation

Row 1: Anne Gibbon, Lois Swingle, Nancy Loudon, Fanny Lou Mathers, Mary Jane Simmon, Patricia Witt.
Row 2: Nola Bradley, Mary Bennett, Helen Teros, Chloe Andich, Eileen O'Brien, Ruth Ann Clanton, Corinne MacNeill, Elaine Drobner.

Row 3: Dorothy Lättig, Edith DeFauw, Verla Bush, Virginia Polzin, Arlene Clanton, Barbara Knope, Shirley Johnson, Marilyn Lawson, Betty Strickland.

Thirty-four girls participated in the annual Illinois-Iowa speech tournament held in Davenport Nov. 22, 1947. Ruth Ann Clanton, senior, took first place with the reading "My Little Boy." Corinne MacNeill, senior, placed first with the oration "Education in Hate."

Nine boys were entered in a similar contest in Davenport Jan. 19, 1948.

Peter Lousberg, Jack Parker, William Powers, Stanley Weinstein, Robert G. Long, Leon Sabath.

State Contest

Top to bottom—Row 1: James McCabe, Peter Lousberg, Robert G. Long, Jack Eggspuehler, Ruth Ann Clanton, Sally Pleasants.

Row 2: Alfred Balk, Stanley Weinstein, Frederick Goard, Nola Bradley, Barbara Knope, Nancy Loudon, Punk, Mary Bennett.

"Years Ago" by Ruth Gordon was presented at the state contest in Urbana, Illinois, April 16-17.

Participating in it were Ruth Ann Clanton as Anna Jones, Nancy Loudon as Ruth Gordon Jones, Sally Pleasants as Katherine Follett, Jack Eggspuehler as Clinton Jones, Barbara Knope as Anna Whitam, and Robert G. Long as Fred Whitmarsh.

Also participating in the State Speech tournament were Mary Bennett with the verse readings "The Listeners" by Walter De La Mare, and "The Great Lover" by Charles Ewald. Peter Lousberg presented the humorous selection "The Wizard of Oz" by L. Frank Baum. Ruth Ann Clanton gave the serious reading "My Little Boy" written by Charles Ewald.

Debate

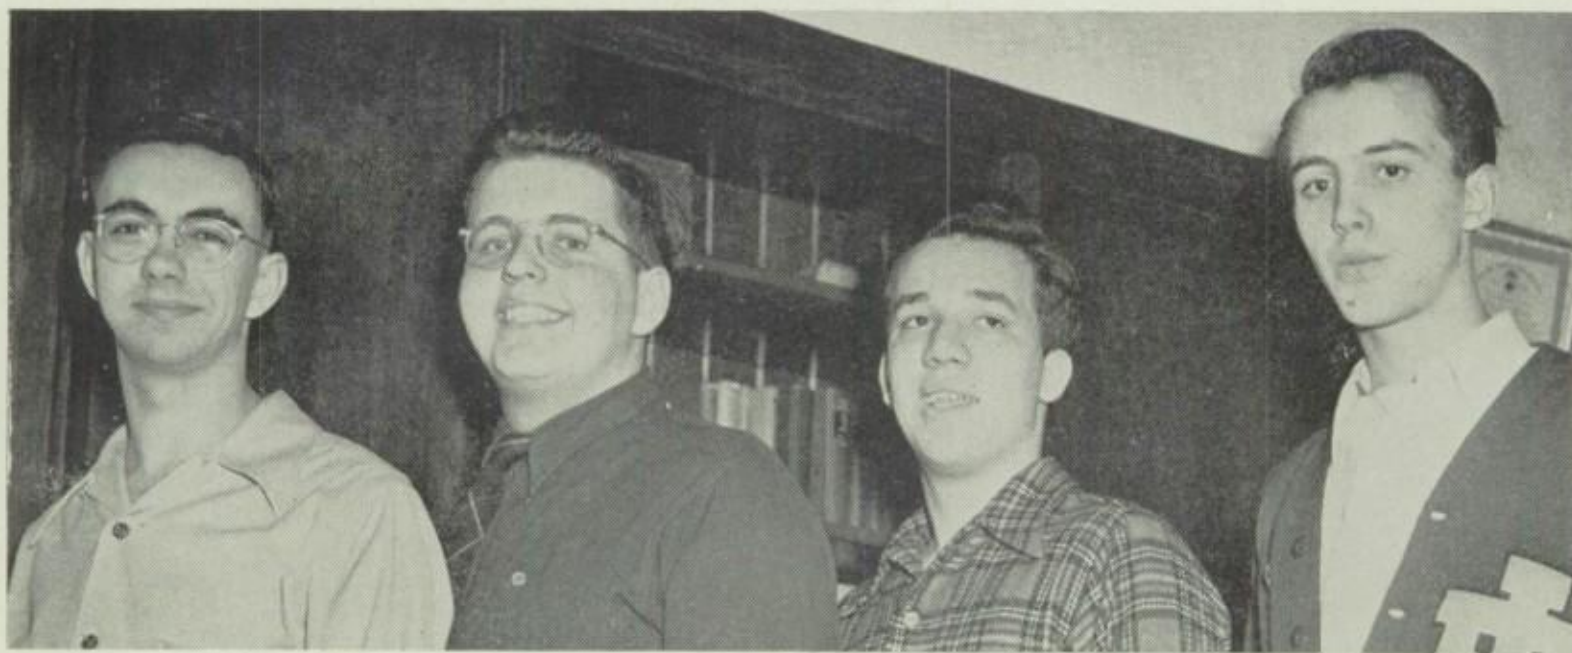

Nola Bradley, Evelyn Stahl, Stanley Weinstein, James McCabe, John C. Searle, Alfred Balk

The topic for the 1947-1948 debate season was, "Resolved: That the federal government should require arbitration of labor disputes in all basic American industries."

The Rock Island debaters completed the season with 25 wins in 34 debates.

In addition, the "B" squad won eight of the 14 debates they entered.

American Legion Oratory

William Powers, John C. Searle, Dean Whitcomb, Hartley Clark.

Rock Island's contestant in the American Legion oratorical contest this year was John C. Searle.

John won the right to compete in the state-wide event by defeating the three other prospective entrants in a preliminary contest held in the Little Theater.

Each boy delivered a prepared oration on the constitution written by Alexander Hamilton. This was followed by a three-minute extemporaneous speech on the third power of congress.

Radio Staff

Arlene Shrader, Zoe Ann Lofgren, Sue Hauerwas, Mary Jane Simmon.

Alfred Balk, Elizabeth Criswell, Sylvia Redding, Frederick Goard, Leon Helms.

The work of the Radio staff has been more complex this past year than ever before. Not only have the members produced and broadcast the regular "Know Your School" broadcasts, heard every Wednesday at 3:45 P.M. over WHBF and WHBF-FM, but they have also taken an active part in the "Quad-Cities School of the Air" program over WQUA, Moline.

The staff has also supplied representatives to "High-Spot," a program aired over WHBF and WHBF-FM every Tuesday night at 9:30.

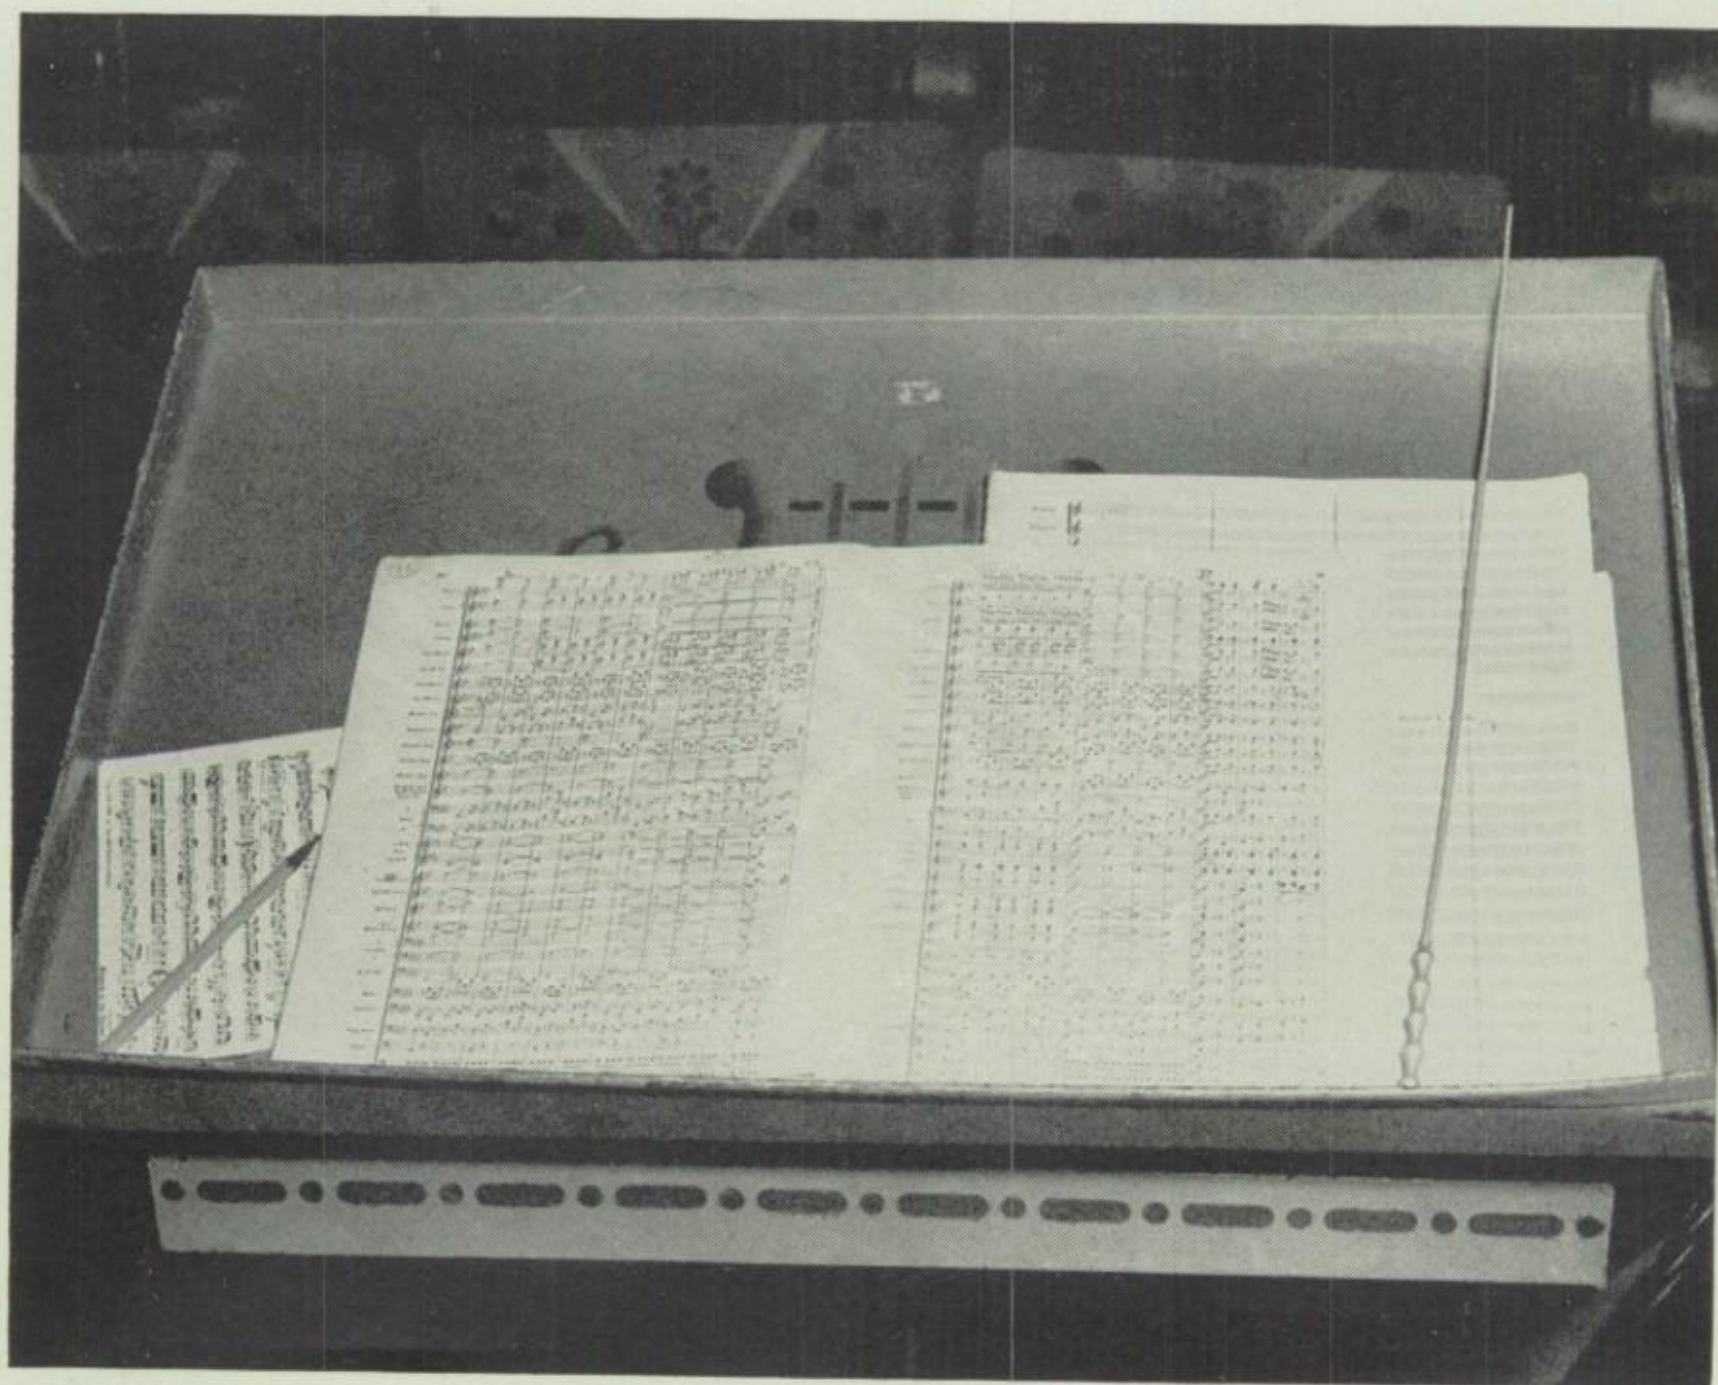

Directors of the Radio staff were: Frederick Goard, chief announcer and High Spot reporter; Arlene Shrader, scripts; Zoe Ann Lofgren, production; Alfred Balk and Sylvia Redding, news. P. J. Martin is the faculty sponsor.

Barbara Knope, Dean Whitcomb, Mildred McCreight, Nola Bradley, Peter Anderson, Sally Pleasants.

Virginia Polzin, William Powers, Nancy Coffler, Joan Mangelsdorf, Fanny Lou Mathers.

Music

Concert Band

The Rock Island high school concert band's nineteenth season included two concerts and a very successful year of marching, all under the direction of George A. Berchekas.

A special banquet was given for the band by the Rock Island chamber of commerce because of the success it had during the fall marching season.

Some of the exceptional formations presented on the gridiron last fall were an Indian tepee, with the band providing background music and Barbara Bierman doing a war dance in the door of the tepee; a spectacular show of precision marching set to music; and a huge moving circle with Edith McDougall, a high school cheerleader, leaping into the center and performing acrobatics.

The majorettes were Barbara Bierman, Beverly Welch, Sandra Andich, Donna Valentine, Caroline Johnson, and Katherine Moody. The drum major was Richard Rodgers and his assistants were Benjamin Hunter, Stanley Weinstein, and Ronald Hesser.

Outstanding numbers played in the fall concert were: "Il Guarany" by A. Carlos Gomez; "A Thanksgiving Fantasy" by Irving Cheyette; and "Prayer and Dream Pantomime" from "Hansel and Gretel" by Engelbert Humperdinck. These four solos were given: "From the Shores of the Mighty Pacific" by Herbert L. Clark, a cornet solo played by Clyde Sydnor; "Blue Bells of Scotland" by Arthur Pryor, played by Alfred Balk on the trombone; "Concertino for Clarinet" Op. 26 by C. M. Weber, played by Jacqueline Dierickx; "The Lord's Prayer" by Albert Hay Malotte, a vocal solo sung by Carolyn Cutler.

Hartley Clark

Outstanding selections from the spring concert were: "Prince and Pauper—Overture" by Harold M. Johnson; "All Glory

Be to God on High" by Bach; "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" by Lockhart-Seitz; "Oklahoma Selection" by Richard Rodgers; "Thoughts of Love" by Arthur Pryor, a baritone solo by Leon Sabath; "Roumanian Rhapsody" by George Enesco; "Fantasy on an American Air" by Herbert W. Fred; "Carnival of Venice" by Herbert L. Clark, bass solo by Robert Meeker.

The band manager was Hartley Clark and his assistant was Alfred Balk.

A variety of entertaining programs was introduced by this year's Glee club under the direction of Vonnie Wallander.

The first performance in which the entire Glee club participated was a Christmas program of secular and sacred music given Dec. 16.

The first part consisted of the Junior Girls' Glee club singing a select group of Christmas carols in an original rendition entitled "Here We Come A-Caroling."

The second part of the program, given by the mixed Glee club, offered an original skit providing fun and merriment in the form of a sleighing party. "A Sleighing We Will Go," arranged by Evelyn Stahl, included special numbers by soloists, trios, and sextets. Fred Waring's arrangement of "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" concluded the secular musical sequence.

The closing portion of the program portrayed the Christmas story beautifully and reverently in a Christmas choral fantasy, "O Wondrous Star." It was narrated by William Powers with both Glee clubs participating.

The next outstanding performance given by the Glee club was an original operetta presented March 19. It depicted the problems involved when the students of Gustaga college campaign to meet their goal in a benefit drive. Various difficulties arise, but everything ends happily. This operetta was written by a former Glee club student conductor, Donn Weiss, and arranged by two Augustana students, Mary Jane Caddington and Ruth Schilling.

The leads in the operetta were taken by John Anderson, Mary Bennett, Morris Miles, Corinne MacNeill, and Joseph Robinson, Neil Pearson, and Lyle Swisher carried important parts.

In addition to the operetta, part of the evening's performance was devoted to a group of light opera and grand opera numbers featuring choral singing and trios, quartets, and soloists.

The Inner choir, a group of students selected by Mrs. Wallander, represented the Glee club at several engagements when a smaller group was more desirable than the usual 92.

Two girls' trios were formed this year. One composed of Rosemary Wilkens, Marlene Rohrer, and Sue Hauerwas; the other consisted of Mary Bennett, Evelyn Stahl, and Corinne MacNeill. Both trios were active in school programs.

To climax a successful season, the solo recital displayed many lovely voices.

Organization heads capably handled this year's Glee club. Corinne MacNeill and John Hendren were elected presidents of the Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs respectively. Also elected were Mary Bennett and James McCabe, secretaries; Helen Humphries and Don Seuss, treasurers.

Librarians, Joyce Pearson, Ruth Polanchek, Marlene Rohrer, and Neil Pearson, were appointed; student conductors, Audrey Wilson and James Odette, were chosen; pianists, James Odette and Evelyn Stahl, were selected as accompanists.

The Junior Girls' Glee club officers were: Helen Humphries, president; Sally Cameron, secretary; Donna Anderson, treasurer; and Gloria Stevenson, student conductor.

Publishing an annual for a school the size of Rocky High is no small task but practically a full-time job. The basic staff of six, who were the assistants last year, came back to school in September faced with the problem of greatly increased costs in nearly all phases of annual production. In spite of these difficulties, the staff has managed to produce an annual which gives an accurate pictorial history of Rocky High for the school year 1947-1948.

Editor in chief Richard Rodgers was responsible for the designing and planning of the 1948 Watch Tower and also supervising the work of the other staff members. Richard R. Smith was selected to be Dick Rodgers' assistant and helped ease the load.

Business manager Dean Luckett had the unenviable job of keeping the finances straight. The conditions Dean faced were the most difficult any business manager has had to face in many years. Dean Miller was chosen to learn the art and assumed part of the burden.

A good annual contains plenty of well-planned, properly identified pictures. Photography editor Janet Kaminsky and her assistant Marilyn Hixon have done a fine job in scheduling them for Clyde Hinchliffe of the Argus, head photographer of groups. The credit for the accuracy of the "idents" goes to them.

Assembling and checking the large amount of copy this year took up much of copy editor Elaine Drobner's time. She and her assistant, Marjorie Johnson, spent many weary hours on this job.

The sports co-editors, Alfred Balk and Harlan Druckmiller, have produced a sports section that has unusually good photographs and coverage of the sports activities of the Crimson and Gold.

Esca G. Rodger, head of the publications department, was faculty adviser, and through her patience and excellent advice the 1948 Watch Tower came into being.

Crimson Crier Staffs

Row 1: Alvera Ramirez, Virginia Polzin, Donna Richtman, Arlene Shrader, Robert Meeker, Mary Jane Simmon, Helen Teros, Joanne Mills, Donna Townsend.

Row 2: Margaret Runyon, Harold Nelson, John C. Searle, Meredith Ostrom, Richard Rodgers, William Powers, William Miller, Manford Rowe, Alex Pesses, Charles Smith.

Bringing the news of the school to you every other week in The Crimson Crier is the job inherited by the advanced journalism classes under the guidance of Esca G. Rodger.

Each semester the staff of our biweekly newspaper changes to give more students an opportunity for this training in high school journalism. The staffs are managed by student executives and stories are written by student reporters. The printing is done in our print shop by students in David J. Borth's advanced printing classes.

Each staff has a semester of training in the beginning journalism class before it takes over publication. To be eligible for this training class, a candidate must have the recommendation of his sophomore English teacher and a semester grade of B or above.

Kenneth Brostrom,
Clyde Hinchliffe, John
Searle.

Helen Teros, head proofreader, complete the list of officers.

The big event for the publications department was the sixth annual Double-I regional high school press conference held here Oct. 18. Eight Illinois and Iowa schools sent about one hundred and seventy representatives for the conference. Robert Meeker and Richard Rodgers served as conference co-chairmen.

The list of conference speakers included several prominent journalists, both local and from out of town. Professor Arne Rae of the University of Illinois, Dr. Albert A. Sutton of Northwestern university, and Professor Edward F. Mason of the University of Iowa were among those lecturing on the problems of school publications.

The journalism staffs were represented at the Illinois State High School Press Conference on the campus of the University of Illinois in Champaign Sept. 26-27. Arlene Shrader and Robert Meeker represented the Crier staff and The Watch Tower was represented by Richard Rodgers and Dean Luckett.

Jobs with commercial newspapers often grow out of this training. Alfred Balk wrote high school sports stories for the Rock Island Argus and Robert Meeker was the Davenport Daily Times sports correspondent. Corinne MacNeill was chosen to write a column on high school news for the Argus, and Joan Burgess wrote for the Daily Times.

Office and Clinic Assistants

Dalene Grabau, Norma Burkert, Alyne Jones, Dorothy Gardner, Mary Larson, Zoe Ann Hanna, Joyce De Vrieze, Patricia Nold.

The clinic at Rocky High is maintained for those girls who are too ill to remain in their classes. Girls may come here to rest until they feel better.

It is the duty of the clinic assistants to record the names of all the girls who come in and awaken them in time to make their beds and dress.

Matilda Bacon, a registered nurse, directs the clinic from 8 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock. This is Mrs. Bacon's second year at Rock Island high school.

Principal Owen B. Wright chooses certain girls from the junior and senior classes to help in the office each class period. The girls chosen are those who will be able to keep up their class work in spite of the extra duties in the office.

It is their duty to gather attendance slips, run errands, deliver notes and detention slips, and regulate the hall lights.

Certain girls are assigned to the deans' offices also.

Four girls are in the office at all times.

An excellent job has again been performed by Genevieve Robinson, cafeteria director, and her staff of full-time and part-time workers.

Their daily routine of serving a variety of tempting and nutritious luncheons, along with sandwiches, salads, and desserts, to accommodate all at a nominal fee of 30 cents a luncheon, has been successfully completed for another year.

The struggle with inflationary prices has not altered the quality or quantity of the food served.

Specific duties were assigned to each worker to insure good meals each day.

The student body and the faculty appreciate greatly this job well done.

Sweeping floors, washing windowpanes, tending to the boilers, mending broken shades, and reforming stubborn lockers are a few of the many tasks performed each year by the school custodians to keep our high school neat and clean.

The job of Thomas Schroeder and his assistants is too readily taken for granted by the majority of us.

Their jobs do not end at the close of the school day but continue until the daily routine of chores is completed and things made ready for our next day of study.
